

NARROW ESCAPE

Two ladies and two little girls had remarkable escapes from serious injury in a runaway accident in West Newton Friday afternoon, their carriage colliding with an electric car after the horse had dashed down a hill. The horse was driven by Mrs. Hubert L. Carter of 170 Olds street, Newtonville. With her were Mrs. E. C. Andrews of West Newton and the two little daughters of a neighbor. As they were driving down Chestnut street the horse bolted and pulled the reins from the hands of Mrs. Carter. The carriage was run into a car on the Newton-Frammingham line on Washington street, in charge of Conductor Cummings and Motorman Curtis, although the motorman put on speed and tried to get out of the path of the vehicle. Three windows of the car were broken and some of the passengers were showered with glass. The impact broke the horse's back and the animal had to be shot.

BRAE BURN BEATEN.

Harvard took on Brae Burn's first team in a practice match Tuesday night and won, 7 to 1. The collegians excelled in team work. Hicks had three goals to his credit before he gave way to Kirkland. The ice in the Brae Burn rink was rough in spots, which interfered somewhat with smooth passing and bothered the forwards in their dashes down the ice. Brae Burn was unable to penetrate the Harvard defence, Knowles being the only man to get the rubber into the net.

MR. LINCOLN BURIED.

Funeral services for Mr. William H. Lincoln, the civil engineer who was accidentally killed while in the employ of the government, at Cody, Wyo., on Jan. 24, were held Tuesday afternoon in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lincoln, at 18 Putnam street, West Newton. There was a large attendance, including many of his former classmates in the Newton High School and of the class of '06, Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, pastor of the West Newton Unitarian Church, officiated. The Boston Quartet sang "Nearer, My God to Thee," "Face to Face" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." The burial was in Newton Cemetery. The pallbearers, all of whom were friends of the deceased, were Messrs. Willey, Blodgett, Cooper and Morrison.

Castle Square Theatre—New England life has rarely been pictured so faithfully and so entertainingly as it is in "Shore Acres," which is to be given for the first time at the Castle Square Theatre next week by the John Craig Stock Company. This play was written by the late James A. Herne and acted by him at the Boston Museum, with the support of the famous company at that historic playhouse, some 15 years ago, and since then no play of its kind has exceeded it in popularity. It has been played season after season throughout the country, and for years Mr. Herne gave his famous impersonation of the character of Uncle Nat Berry. Its plot is a simple one, all its characters are extremely realistic, there are many touches of homely country nature, at the old-fashioned anniversary dinner, and the tempestuous light-house episode are in every way remarkable and true to humanity.

If you want to borrow trouble go to a money lender.

NEW VAULTS

The vestibule for the new safety vaults of the Newton Trust Company arrived this week and the work of lowering it into the basement of the building on Centre street attracted quite a crowd. It was necessary to remove a large section of the sidewalk to allow the two pieces which form the vestibule to enter the building. The new vaults when completed will be the largest outside of Boston and are fitted with every conceivable device to protect the contents, being burglar, fire, bomb and earthquake proof and with the most modern system of electrical protection.

CITY HALL.

The Civic Club of Newton, composed of present and past members of the city government, will hold its annual meeting at the Hotel Lenox next Wednesday evening. Mr. Frederick P. Fish will be the principal speaker and there will be a discussion of school matters.

Former Assessor Bernard Early is recovering from a painful injury to his knee which has confined him to the house for several weeks.

The Shubert Theatre—After its long run of 33 weeks at the Broadway Theatre, New York, "The Midnight Sons," the mammoth Lew Fields production, comes to the Shubert Theatre, Boston, next week, inaugurating the musical comedy season at that house Feb. 7. Glen MacDonough stands sponsor for the book and Raymond Hubbell the music.

The story, which by the way has difficulty in keeping pace with the numerous musical numbers and interpolated specialties, concern the efforts of four "midnight sons" of Senator Constant Noyes to "go broke." They engage in various kinds of businesses, always making money. Even as proprietors of a hotel the tips from the cloak rooms net thousands each day. Then there are numerous attractive widows and belles upon whom the sons shower their wealth, one of them building a theatre for his fiancée.

The cast numbers over 125 persons and includes Maude Lambert, Clara Palmer, George Monroe, George A. Schiller, Joseph N. Ratliff, Harry Fisher, Denham Mailey, Florence Martin, Gladys Moore, Linden Beckwith and others.

Truth crushed to earth will rise again, but it isn't that way with an egg.

HELD UP

Miss Annie Durgin, a maid employed in the family of S. W. Bridges, 42 Fairmont avenue, was held up on Centre street late last week Thursday night and robbed of her pocket-book by an unknown man. The police have a description of the man and are searching for him.

Miss Durgin was walking on Centre street near Bennington, when the man suddenly jumped out from behind a tree and seized her wrist. He took her silver mesh pocket-book containing $3.50 and a gold-mounted rosary and disappeared.

The police learned that the holdup was witnessed by a maid employed by a Sargent street family, who was a short distance away on Centre street.

Newton High gave Rindge Manual Training School of Cambridge its first setback of the season in hockey at the Brae Burn Country Club rink, 4 to 3, Tuesday afternoon, the match being one of the closest and most exciting seen there this winter.

Although these teams are not in the same league the game has been causing much speculation among the hockey followers in this vicinity because of the fact that both teams went into the game unbeaten this winter.

Rindge has been regarded as a championship possibility because of its splendid showing against such teams as Andover, Somerville, St. Mark's, Milton and the Harvard freshmen. Newton has beaten the strongest teams in the State, and is out to capture the championship of the Preparatory League.

To capture the State title Newton has only to score victories over Melrose and Arlington, the other two leading high school teams in Greater Boston.

Newton was without the services of Charles Foote, its coverpoint, who was notified by the faculty that he was not eligible on account of study deficiencies.

In the opening period it was nip and tuck throughout. Newton scored three goals, and Rindge two in this period. In the final period the game became a little rougher. Rindge soon tied the score, and the teams remained on even terms until the last three minutes of play, when Newton again drew ahead and remained there.

The Rindge players contend that three of Newton's goals were scored on forward passes, which should not have been allowed to count, but Referee Billings said that he made no such passes, and the points were allowed to stand.

The Cambridge seven is confident that it can beat Newton on neutral ice. The managements will undoubtedly come to some understanding soon regarding a second match.

In a fast, clean game Newton High defeated the strong Thayer Academy team of South Braintree, 30 to 23, in the Newton Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Friday afternoon. As Thayer had played a tie game with the strong Whitcomb team and had not previously met defeat this season, the contest was of unusual interest here. The playing of Osborne, Newton's left forward, was a feature. At the end of the first period the score stood 14-14 and during the second half the score swung continually by one or two points in favor of one team and then in favor of the other. In a preliminary contest the Allen School second team won from Newton second, 7 to 2.

PEDLERS' PARADE

In the parish house of the Church of the Messiah last Saturday evening a unique entertainment and "Pedler's Parade" was given under the direction of Mrs. M. Millie Beardsley. Those who took part in the entertainment were the Anthion Trio, Edwin Peterson, soloist; Hazelle Lorraine Bold, reader; Little Clare Anderson, in child selections; Grace Leutz, pianist; Mrs. Fred Young, accompanist. After the entertainment the audience assembled in the parish hall and the pedlers marched in with their trays or baskets of tempting articles for sale. Among them were Miss Edith Jacobs, representing grapes and selling grape fruit; Mrs. G. Fred Pond, pencils, collar buttons and shoe strings; Miss Eva Wyeth, dressed as Red Riding Hood, with apples; Miss Lena Sundling as an Egyptian, selling doughnuts; Miss Ethel Brewster as a waitress, selling coffee; Mr. Heckman, a tin pedler; Miss Maud Smithers, an old mammy, selling holders; Harry Moseley as a Westerner, selling peanuts; Miss Helen Bunker in a quaint costume, selling home-made candy; Mr. Chester Bonney as a baker, selling brown bread; Mrs. Fred Young, in white lavender, selling corn balls; Miss Ruth Burgess as Priscilla, selling pop corn; Miss Rosa Allen, selling fruit; Miss Celeste Bailey, representing an Italian, selling ice cream horns; Miss Helen Curtin, representing the Goddess of Liberty, selling peanuts; Miss Susie Dwyer as a dairy maid, selling ples, and last but not least, Mr. Roger McNear with an up-to-date night lunch cart carrying tempting sandwiches. There was fun galore for old and young and the stock in trade of each pedler was soon disposed of. A social dance followed. The affair was such a success socially and financially that another will be given after Easter.

LODGES.

The officers of General Hull Lodge, A. O. U. W., for 1910, who were installed last Friday evening by D. D. G. M. W., W. A. Clark and suite, were: Master workman, Charles A. Boulet; foreman, William H. Bliss; overseer, J. Frank Dunleavy, recorder, John L. Sibley; treasurer, Edwin H. Cram; financier, Arthur C. Watkins; guide, William E. Brown; inside watchman, Arthur W. Hall; outside watchman, Stephen D. Hodge; P. M. workman, F. G. L. Henderson; trustee, William P. Soule.

POLICE NOTES.

Both being convicted of larceny of a fur coat and a pair of gloves from an automobile, Jeremiah J. Leary, 27 years old, and Dennis H. O'Leary, 31, were given two months each in the house of correction in court last Friday. Patrolman Dow testified that the coat and gloves were stolen from an automobile that was temporarily unoccupied in Nonantum square, opposite a restaurant. They were the property of Charles Colby, chauffeur for Walter H. Holbrook, 300 Waverley avenue. Leary and O'Leary were also given sentences of one month each for drunkenness. The police say that both are old offenders.

It is better to be an honest man in one language than a liar in five.

ANOTHER SPLENDID CONCERT.

A great deal has been said of the ability of the well-known Madame Mary Hlasek-Moss of New York, the well-known soprano. She made her first appearance in Newton on Wednesday evening at the Players' Hall, West Newton, the occasion being the fourth concert of the series inaugurated by Messrs. Charles E. Hatfield and H. L. Burrage.

Madame de Moss' program was divided into three parts, each possessing special significance. The first part was made up mostly of compositions of the old masters, while the other two parts were made up of more modern composers, especially the third part, which included numbers by Phillip Paul Bliss, Dahlhouse Young, Liza Lehmann, Norris and Woodman.

Madame de Moss was in excellent voice and showed to great advantage the wonderful sweetness and power it possesses. It would indeed be difficult to say in what class of work she excelled, whether in the sweeter lullabies that called for so much expression or whether in the heavier numbers such as "The Merman Song" by Haydn, or "Oh, had I Jubal's Lyre," from the oratorio Joshua by Handel that in turn called for exactness of technique and flexibility of execution.

One of the most pleasing phases of the concert was the fact that the heartiest applause was given to the compositions of Phillip Paul Bliss. So well received was the group of songs by this composer that the audience insisted upon a repetition of "Birds in the High Hall Garden" and "A Springtime Wish." Mr. Bliss is a young American composer, rapidly coming to the front, a young man whose musical ideals are of the highest order and who is devoting himself greatly to the musical setting of the better known Tennyson poems.

Miss Marriott Strickland, the accompanist, assisted greatly in the success of the program by the painstaking efforts displayed. Her touch is pleasing and sweet, yet at the same time firm. In the singing passages she shows much artistic temperament and at no time dominated, although at all times she was self-reliant and undoubtedly aided the soloist much by her surety.

Taking the whole program it would be difficult to pick out the most attractive numbers unless they were as above stated, the compositions of Mr. Bliss. Madame de Moss entered into her work with all the beauty of her warm, Southern nature, which in itself explains one of the reasons for her success. Enunciation, tone, tune, rhythm, technique, execution—all are possessed by her in all of the best forms.

Mr. A. H. Handley, under whose direction these concerts are being given, is to be congratulated upon the high artistic success they are achieving.

OLD RESIDENT DEAD.

Mr. Andrew Peters, one of the oldest residents of West Newton, died quite suddenly yesterday at his home on Washington street. He was born in County Kilkenny, Ireland, and was 73 years of age. He is survived by a widow, four daughters, Mrs. John Hennelly, Miss Nellie, Miss Anastasia and Miss Mary Peters, and one son, Mr. Andrew Peters, Jr., of West Newton. Mr. Peters was a blacksmith by trade and had been a resident and one of the best known characters of West Newton for about 50 years. Solemn requiem mass will be held at the St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

MID-WINTER MEETING OF THE MASSACHUSETTS STATE FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS.

An audience that crowded Park Street Church to the doors assembled on Tuesday, Feb. 1, for the mid-winter meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation. Promptly at 10 o'clock Miss George A. Bacon, president, called the meeting to order and graciously welcomed not only delegates from Massachusetts, but also from all the other New England States. She said that this year, instead of presenting subjects directly concerned with particular committees, it is the policy to present great movements of the day, and so for that session a question of vital importance to all New England had been selected, that of "Conservation."

A silver-mounted gavel presented to the Federation by the Fortnightly Club of Winchester was used for the first time.

Certain legislative matters were then presented by Mrs. Alice Parker Lesser, chairman of the legislative committee, for the action of the Federation. They were as follows:

Senate Bill 19 in regard to the milk supply, authorizing the State Board of Health in conjunction with the dairy board to make regulations in regard to the production, transportation and sale of milk, so as to secure purity, cleanliness and healthfulness. Five bills relative to child labor. House Bill 329. That no child under 16 shall be employed for more than eight hours a day. House Bill 330. That minors shall not be employed in trades that are dangerous to their health. House Bill 331. That no child between 14 and 16 shall be employed before 6 a. m. or after 7 p. m. except on farms. A bill requiring certificates of physical fitness of children between ages 14 to 16. Another bill requiring that children engaging in street trades be licensed by the school committee.

Bills presented by the Watch and Ward Society to enact legislation against the so-called "White Slave Traffic."

A bill providing for a Federal Children's Bureau. These measures received the endorsement of the Federation.

Two others were presented for the Federation to enter protest against: The Spanish War Veterans' bill in the State Legislature and the Hetch-Hetchy Valley question before Congress.

Mrs. F. W. Girard, chairman of the General Federation forestry committee, who was present, was called to the platform to speak regarding the taking of Hetch-Hetchy Valley as a reservoir for San Francisco. She said there are several questions involved in this matter, chief among them being the precedent that is established in allowing a public service corporation to take a national reserve from the people. There are other water supplies which San Francisco can secure. "Shall we allow the precedent to be established?"

The convention voted unanimously to protest against these two measures.

"A Glance at the work of the State Federations of New England," as presented by their presidents, occupied the rest of the morning. In the absence of Mrs. Charles F. Flagg, Mrs. Stanley Plummer spoke for Maine, Mrs. William Burlingame for New Hampshire, Mrs. Oliver C. Ashton for Vermont, Mrs. Ira D. Hasbrouck for Rhode Island, Mrs. William H. Phipps for Connecticut, and Mrs. Caroline S. Atherton, first vice-president, for Massachusetts.

The Maine Federation has been actively interested in the matter of travelling libraries and this work has been put into the hands of a State Library Commission, two of whom are always club women recommended by the Federation. Child labor question has been agitated by them and improvement in the laws secured. Better factory inspection has been worked for. They have worked for the cause of forestry, secured a chair of forestry at the University of Maine and advocated the Mount Katahdin Forest Reserve.

Among the things reported from the New Hampshire Federation may be mentioned the withdrawing of young children from the county farms; inspection of all State and county charitable institutions; the establishment of a State school for feeble-minded children; laws for the guardianship and protection of children; educational work in the prevention of tuberculosis. Individual clubs are educating young women at the State Normal School who in turn pledge themselves to teach a certain length of time in the rural schools; they are exceedingly interested in forestry.

"Once our people are aroused to the importance of this subject," said Mrs. Burlingame, "devastation will cease and it is here that our clubs may accomplish much. We may strive to educate public opinion. From thousands of homes shall go forth the voice of warning and demand that our land be protected from those who would destroy our natural resources."

Mrs. Oliver C. Ashton of Rutland, Vt., in speaking of her Federation, said that they are trying to do just what New Hampshire is doing. They have been interested in travelling libraries, have secured the appointment of women on the State Board of Institutions, have worked to wipe out the "Great White Plague" and have carried on a campaign of education in the matter of forestry. She dwelt upon some of the geographical difficulties they encounter in the matter of holding meetings, and wondered how many women would have been present at this meeting if it had meant three days' time, a day to come and a day to go, and an expense of from $5 to $10. She gave some idea of the work of individual clubs by reading the program for this year of the Rutland Woman's Club.

Rhode Island has worked for betterment of child labor laws, for better factory inspection, investigated tenement houses with view to getting improved laws, is circulating 100 travelling libraries this year; has agitated the pure milk supply question. "As a State," said Mrs. Hasbrouck, "Rhode Island has been slower than many in waking to the need of the conservation of its natural resources. But the density of its population and the fact that it is accreted with more trees and waterways to its acreage than any State in the Union, makes it a problem of vital importance to every citizen. This truth is being agitated by our educators. And when the opportune time for action arrives the Rhode Island Federation will not be found wanting."

Connecticut reported that possibly its best work had been along forestry lines under the efficient leadership of Mrs. F. W. Girard, who is now chairman of the General Federation committee, as well as that of Connecticut. They have also helped in securing a woman factory inspector, influenced the probation officer movement, launched the Consumers' League, and Connecticut was the first State to secure an equal guardianship law. In a combined effort with the Association of Collegiate Alumnae have improved educational conditions and an Abbott Memorial fund is being raised to be used for advanced study by Connecticut teachers. In closing her remarks Mrs. Phipps said: "We are a people of steady habits and perhaps a little slow, but I think we shall arrive."

Massachusetts, through its first vice-president, Mrs. Caroline S. Atherton, reported as follows:

"As stated in the by-laws, the object is to unify the work of the clubs. In education much has been done to co-operate with educators in school reforms, in introducing manual training, kindergartens and vacation schools, for medical inspection of school children, etc. The present task is the formation of home and school associations through the State. The Federation has reached out to others through its Model School in Georgia, maintained for six years, and through its settlement in the Tennessee mountains, as well as through numerous travelling libraries scattered over the country.

"The holders of the Federation fellowship under the direction of the committee on industrial conditions of women and children have published a simplified code of Massachusetts labor laws, have made a thorough study of child labor conditions, and are about to publish a report on the present administration of labor laws in the State. This department had much to do with the transfer of inspection for sanitary laws in factories from the district police to experts under the State Board of Health, and also with the formation of the Massachusetts child labor committee.

"Thousands of dollars are saved annually by school children through stamp savings stations managed by club committees. The clubs are doing more for civic betterment than for any other one thing. They are fighting tuberculosis; they are working for playgrounds, studying the claims of the Juvenile Court, and now turning attention to a saner and safer celebration of July 4.

"They have fostered an interest in Arbor Day, in school gardening, and have done much for the preservation of shade trees. Civil service reform has been studied and legislation opposed that would exempt veterans from the requirements of civil service rules. One of the Federation's greatest opportunities is intensive work for State and federal legislation, the endorsement of a few selected measures and untiring championship of the bills endorsed.

"The Federation maintains high standards for club programs, offering numerous suggestions through its several committees.

"This work is all unified by conferences of committees, where the State committee on a given subject gets together club workers from different parts of the State to talk over what has been done, what needs to be done and how to do it. And by means of conferences of presidents, the adjustment of the various parts is effected and the balance preserved. The achievements of the clubs are further correlated through the returns to numerous questions sent out each year.

"The Massachusetts Federation learned from the splendid response of the clubs at the time of the biennial that it may lead on with confidence, counting on a loyal following of willing workers."

The meeting adjourned for luncheon at 12 o'clock. The members of the executive board of the Federation with the guests lunched together at the Bellevue, while other delegates were comfortably cared for at the nearby restaurants.

From 1:30 until 2 o'clock Mr. Harris Shaw, organist at Columbus Avenue Universalist Church, gave a recital and before the clock marked 2 nearly every seat was occupied. Former Governor Guild was greeted with enthusiasm as he mounted the platform. The afternoon session opened with the singing of "America," with Mrs. Martha Dana Shepard as leader. Then followed Governor Guild's address, which is given in another column.

The singing of "Blest be the Tie that Binds" which is sometimes called the Federation hymn, brought to a close one of the most, if not the most, inspiring meetings the Massachusetts State Federation has ever held.

GREAT SUCCESS.

The annual reunion of the members of the Church of the Sacred Heart of Newton Centre was held in Bray Hall of that village last evening and was largely attended.

In the four corners of the hall were various booths, while the walls were elaborately decorated with flags, and the national emblem, the eagle. Dancing was started promptly at 8 o'clock under the efficient direction of Mr. John Barry as floor marshal, Mr. Dennis Flannigan floor director and Mr. Robert Vachon assistant floor director. The above officials were aided by Messrs. L. A. Barry, J. W. Foley, T. F. Higgins, Frank Hurley, Jacob King, Robert Hurley, John Kneeland, Thomas King, T. J. Klockner, Frank Kneeland, Edwin M. Adams, William H. McGrath, William Mullin, J. B. McInerney, Justin O'Kane, Samuel Simpkins, William Turner, William Warner and J. A. Waters. The music was given by King's Orchestra of Newton.

The fruit and punch table was artistically decorated by the young ladies of the church who were also in charge, and the thirst of the dancers was satisfied with refreshing punch which earned the title, "nectar fit for the gods," by the Misses Alice O'Kane, D. A. Connors, Grace Kilcare, Clare DeLueha, Ellen Copenger, Elizabeth Driscoll, Catharine Murphy, Grace Furden, Ella Foley, Mary Finley, Margaret McInerney, Mary Foley, Margaret O'Brien, Margaret Clark and Louise Hennickus. The young ladies were all of the advance class in the Sunday School, and proudly displayed a sash bearing the word "Pilgrim".

At the other end of the hall the flower table was stationed under the direction of Mrs. William Warner, who was assisted by Mrs. Robert Vachon and the Misses Mary King, Mary Warner, Margaret Clark and Mary White. Chances were up at this table on a large plant and Miss Jennie Bowdoin was fortunate in obtaining the coveted prize.

No fair or social would be complete without the candy table, and as this was no exception to the rule, a large, well stocked table was under the direction of the young ladies of the Sunday School, the Misses Margaret Waters, Mildred Levi, Nellie McGrath, Rebecca Pomeroy, Catharine Daley, Elizabeth McGrath, Mary O'Kane and Julia King.

The largest and most patronized table of all was the refreshment table over which matrons presided, Mrs. Patrick Hurley was in charge and had a large corps of efficient aids in Mrs. Robert Hurley, Mrs. L. A. Vachon, Mrs. John Mills, Mrs. B. Cooper, Mrs. Hugh Burns and Mrs. Howard Ernest. In addition to the giving away of a plant, one cake was awarded to Miss Mary Waters and a box of candy to Mr. Albert Wright.

The small hall was used for progressive whist. There were eighty tables, under the direct supervision of Miss Elizabeth Levi. The young ladies who recorded the number of points obtained in each hand were the Misses Jennie Tierney, Lottie Maloney, Mary Hart, Mary Coleman, Annie Flannigan, Norah Coleman, Mary McGrady, Kittie Mahoney, Elizabeth Cassidy, Norah Mahoney, Gertrude McDonald, Norah Regan and Mary Brennan.

The first prize was won by Miss Curtin, the second by Miss Flannery, the third by Miss Glynn, the fourth by Miss Tierney, the fifth by Miss McDonald, the sixth by Miss McGrath and the seventh by Miss Laskey, with the gentlemen's prizes taken in the following order by Messrs Barr, Panton, Cannon, John White, Buzzan, Burke and Buckley.

It was estimated that there was over 1000 present at this reunion the success of which was due to the careful preparations of Rev. Fathers Riordan and Haney.

N. H. S.

Newton High won its opening game in the Preparatory hockey league yesterday afternoon on the Brae Burn Country Club rink, defeating the Cambridge Latin team, 7 to 0. The home seven had everything its own way from start to finish.

Before the game commenced Lawrence Beckett of Newton High received a bad gash on the head, a puck shot by Schuyler Adams accidentally hitting him. In the second half Captain Stephen Hopkins of Newton High was forced to substitute Gore in his place, because of a bad leg cut sustained while playing in the opening period.

The Preparatory League has decided to hold its annual indoor track and field meeting Feb. 18 in the Newton High School gymnasium in the evening. Brookline, Cambridge Latin and Newton High schools comprise this league.

The following events were decided upon: 30-yard dash, 300-yard run, 600-yard run, 1000-yard run, 12-pound shotput, running high jump, low hurdles and a three-team relay race. The Newton High class teams will undoubtedly also have a set of relay races to determine the championship of the school.

Adams, the crack Newton High sprinter, who has been doing splendid work since the season opened, has been suspended by Dr. Brown for an indefinite period.

Captain William Clancy, the Newton High track star, who has been confined to his home with the grip, expects to start training again next Monday.

While the Newton team was practicing in the gymnasium, a boy named Hart, from Newton Lower Falls, fell from the flying rings and was injured. He became unconscious and was sent to his home in a carriage, but recovered later.

Y. M. C. A.

Newton presented a new lineup against Quincy Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night, and won by a score of 34 to 11. The home team showed better all-around work. It was aided greatly by William Cady of Newton High, who played his second contest of the day, having taken part in the Newton-Winchester afternoon game. Newton's second team won from Quincy second, 27 to 18.

The corn was simply shocked by the cutting manner of the farmer.

"THE COUNTY FAIR."

The Waban Tennis Courts attended the "County Fair" held in Waban Hall last Saturday evening in full force nearly 100 members enjoying the fun provided by the committee from 8 till 12 and pronouncing it the liveliest and merriest entertainment ever given in town. The special characters were taken as follows, the make up and costumes being wonderfully true to life. Judges, Messrs Dow and Kimball, Announcer, Mr. Blaney, Starter, Mr. Congdon, Special policeman, Mr. Buffum, Drum major of the "Waban Inexhaustibles", Mr. Robinson. Vendor of whistles, balloons, etc., Mr. Turner. Small boy peanut dispenser, Mr. Andrew. Flower girl, Mrs. LeClear. Bookmakers, Messrs. Crain and Piser. Real stage money was given everyone to spend as they wished and in addition each man received $100 to back his favorite in the big horse race.

A parade by the big brass band opened the festivities and then came the races, every lady—45 in all—representing a horse and each having an appropriate name. Tapes were stretched down the course and these the "horses" had to cut down the middle without sitting or cutting off. Six heats were run during intense excitement, and a wild uproar, the winners being: 1. Pony Handicap, Saucy Sue (Mrs. Arnold); 2. Kindergarten Class, Nancy Hanks (Mrs. Knott); 3. High Steppers, Lanky Lou (Mrs. Turner); 4. Speedy Lassies, Sally Lunn (Mrs. Bartlett); 5. Usher Special, Antickly Alice (Mrs. Fisher); 6. Petticoat Derby, Gretchen (Mrs. Garrison). The "run off" was won by Gretchen, 2nd Saucy Sue, and 3rd Sally Lunn, each of the winners receiving prizes. Mr. Garrison won the most and received an artistic scarf pin. Mr. Buffum came next and was given a key ring, while Mr. Gould got a magnet, being $200 behind.

Throughout the evening, "squawks", balloons and whistles were sold by the fakir, Mr. Turner, peanuts were dispensed by the small boy, Mr. Andrews and flowers by Mrs. LeClear, all in exchange for stage money. Ice cream and cake were served also and the affair ended with a dance. The greatest credit is due to the committee, Mrs. Dow, Mrs. Kimball and Mrs. Piser.

Women's Clubs

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt

To pass over such a meeting as that of the State Federation at Park Street Church, Boston, on Tuesday, without a word of comment would be a serious omission on the part of the Club Editor. The inspiration hinted at last week was even greater than had been anticipated. Merely to look upon the audience from the front seats sent a thrill and what must it have been to the speakers. Even Gov. Gould alluded to it at the close of the meeting. The church has a seating capacity of 1200 and in the afternoon it was filled to overflowing with extra chairs occupied. There was none of the restlessness that often marks an audience. This fact is due in large measure to the genius of the presiding officer, who in some magical manner so inspires awe in her speakers that they dare not over-run their time. As a consequence each has the full share, the meeting adjourn at the appointed hour and no one is wearied with too long a session. It is needless to say that the meeting is called to order on the dot and whoever wants to miss none of a session must be there promptly. This is the secret of success in any undertaking and the Massachusetts State Federation is reaping it in full measure at the present time.

"An Evening of Monologues" will be the subject of the meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club on Feb. 7.

The Current Events class, with Mrs. May Alden Ward as lecturer, will meet at the New Church parlors, Newtonville, on Feb. 10, at 10:45.

On Feb. 10 at 10 a. m. Miss Lillian Harrington will illustrate in costume the history of dancing before the Newton Centre Woman's Club.

Mrs. C. R. Brown of Linden street entertained the Pierian Club on Jan. 26. After the business session Mrs. Chadwick read a humorous selection, which was much enjoyed. Mrs. S. A. Thompson, who was in charge of the afternoon, read a fine paper on "The Development of the Modern Novel." The next meeting will be with Mrs. O. E. Nutter of Oak street.

Rev. George G. Phillips lectured before the Monday Club on Jan. 31, at the home of Mrs. Seward W. Jones upon "The Modern Jew."

He spoke of the Jews as having been prominent in all sides of life, as statesmen, musicians, physicians, writers. Unlike many nations who have suffered persecution, they have endured even though it has followed them wherever they have gone, while many another people under similar circumstances has become extinct. He commended their sanitary habits and stated that tuberculosis has found but small foothold among them. As a whole they have been a despised people, but we should remember that there are good Jews as well as good Christians.

Piano solos were rendered by Miss Marguerite Jones and by Miss Elizabeth Chase. A social hour with refreshments followed the lecture. Next week the club meets with Mrs. Moore of Cleaver street.

Temple Hall was filled on Monday evening to hear Beatrice Herford in original monologues under the auspices of the Newtonville Woman's Guild. Miss Herford gave "The Sham-po Woman," "The Only Child" and "The Hat Department," adding as an encore "The Country Seamstress." Piano music was furnished by Miss Bertha Schoff and Mrs. G. W. Pulsifer rendered two groups of songs accompanied by Mrs. A. P. Carter. Young ladies in white wearing white caps with a red cross acted as ushers and sold home-made candy between the acts. The success of the affair is due to the efforts of the hospital committee, with Mrs. G. H. Talbot as chairman. The proceeds will be used for hospital work in which the Guild is interested.

The Social Science Club will consider "Modern Problems in the Home" on Wednesday morning.

At the monthly meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Jan. 27 Rev. Allan A. Stockdale lectured on the subject, "Shall the Corners of the Mouth Turn Up or Down?"

In his opening remarks the lecturer related watching a sculptor carving faces from marble. He became interested in studying the corners of the mouth in particular; how in the faces representing greed, malice, jealousy, etc., the corners turned down, and in those portraying love, kindness, mercy, etc., they invariably turned up.

Mr. Stockdale then applied the figure to living faces and features, and in the course of his talk showed how invisible sculptors mold people's expressions. He mentioned three which turn the corners of the mouth down, the nervous strain of present-day life, the habit of worry and that of continual fault-finding. These are only a few.

Among the invisible sculptors which have the opposite effect are an intelligent love for children and comradeship with them, a sense of humor, and a love of struggle, which is dominant in all. In illustrating the last point Mr. Stockdale recited the Chariot Race from "Ben Hur" in a vivid manner. The lecture was intensely interesting and called forth prolonged applause.

A class in cooking is being conducted by Miss Margaret Howard under the auspices of the Newton Centre Woman's Club in the new Technical High School on Saturday mornings at 9:45 a. m. On Feb. 5 the lesson will be on desserts—steamed fruit pudding, orange puffs, lemon cream, apple meringue, apricot rice pudding and ginger cream. The lectures are open to the public upon the same conditions as admit to the morning meetings of the club.

A course of lectures on Household Economics is also to be given by the club in Bray's Circular Hall. On Feb. 8 Dr. George E. May will speak upon "The Physical Health of the Home and its Significance."

On Feb. 11 Rev. Robert W. Van Kirk will speak before the West Newton Women's Educational Club; subject, "A Blot on the Scutcheon."

A joint conference of the Industrial and Consumers' Leagues committees of the State Federation will be held at Perkins Hall, 264 Boylston street, Boston, on Feb. 10, at 2 p. m. Subjects to be discussed include "New Phases in Work of the Consumers' League," John Graham Brooks; "Factory Inspection," Miss Edith G. Reeves; "Savings Bank Insurance," Miss Davida French; "Massachusetts Child Labor Committee," Richard K. Conant, secretary.

Members of similar committees, club presidents and all interested club members are invited to attend.

A well-attended meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club was held on Friday, Jan. 28. Mrs. A. H. Clifford, the president, brought before the club several items of interest, important among them being the subject of the proposed new club house. Mrs. Chester Morton sang acceptably two contralto solos. The speaker of the afternoon, Dr. William E. Huntington, then spoke on "Modern Methods of Education in Our Colleges." A social tea ended a very interesting meeting.

The Social Science Club held its regular monthly business meeting on Wednesday morning, Feb. 2. Reports were given of the State Federation meeting of Tuesday and Mrs. A. L. Bailey gave a comprehensive report of the Child Labor Conference recently held in Boston. Discussion of the subject of child labor and the bills relative to it now before the Legislature then followed. After thoughtful consideration it was voted to endorse all those bills with the exception of the eight-hour law for children between 14 and 16. The other bills presented and endorsed at the State meeting were also endorsed by the club.

REMINISCENCES.

"The only time I was ever in court was when I swore away my allegiance to Great Britain by being naturalized a citizen of the United States," says Michael B. Buckley, a quaint character whom everyone in Newton Upper Falls knows.

"When I first came to Newton Upper Falls there were only three streets in the vicinity. These were Chestnut street, which led to West Newton; Winchester street, leading to Oak Hill, and the old turnpike running from Boston to Worcester, now known as Boylston street.

"Each one of these thoroughfares was so narrow that wagons had to turn out in the occasional wide places to pass vehicles going in the opposite direction.

"I was born in county Cork, Ireland, about 1830. I shipped aboard a sailing vessel from Queenstown Nov. 9, 1852. The vessel encountered a bad storm and we were wrecked on the coast of Portugal. I remained there four months, while the vessel was recovered, before we again set sail. Finally I landed at Long wharf, Boston, April 12, 1853.

"I boarded a railroad train that man to Brookline, where the tracks ended, and walked on until I reached Newton Upper Falls. In Upper Falls I secured work on the estate of J. B. Wetherell, who was then superintendent of the old Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Company.

"The year that Newton became a city, 1873, I secured employment in the highway department. Soon afterward George H. Ellis bought the Wetherell place. I again became employed on the estate, but after four years returned to my former position in the highway department.

"I had worked for the city 14 years and always kept the streets that I had to look after in fine condition, even if I often had to work more than the usual time to do so.

"One day a former Mayor, while on an inspection trip, noticed my work. He asked me my age and inquired how long I had been working for the city. I felt highly complimented, I can tell you. But a week later I got a letter saying that there was nothing against my character, but that I was too old to work for the city any longer.

"I was one of three men who chopped down the trees that once stood in what is now Newton Highlands square. It was a pretty good undertaking for three men to chop down those trees, but we accomplished the work in fine shape.

"Yes, Newton Upper Falls was a great deal different when I came here that it is now. What is now the head of Mechanic street was then known as Scamps' square, probably because Indians, the rascals, used to camp there.

"There were only three principal dwellings anywhere in the vicinity—the Amos Hale and Sherman houses on what is now Oak street and a house near where the Working Boys' Home is now situated.

"When Upper Falls became a little more thickly settled I used to start at 4 a. m. with some of my neighbors and go to Waltham to attend church."

Mr. Buckley married Miss Margaret Kelly of Newton Upper Falls. He walked to Newton Centre to procure a marriage license from the late Marshall Rice, who was then town clerk. He has had nine children, three of whom are living. These are John Buckley of Newton Upper Falls, Thomas of Beverly and Daniel of Needham.

Mr. Buckley lives at 52 Chandler place. He says he has seen fast locomotives succeed the old-fashioned wood-burning engines, high-speed electric replace stage coaches and wireless telegraph follow slower means of communication. He expects to live to see aeroplanes used for passenger transportation, but allows that he would be a little backward about taking passage in one.

CONSERVATION

EX-GOV. GUILD'S ADDRESS

TO STATE FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

Mr. Guild spoke on the general subject of the NATURAL RESOURCES OF NEW ENGLAND AND THEIR CONSERVATION. His address included the opportunities offered for orchard growing and for market gardening in New England. He also dwelt on the need of protection for shell fish. He dwelt particularly on the need of forest conservation.

He said in part: The difference between a desert and a paradise is caused by the absence or presence of water. The National policy of irrigation, by supplying water, in transforming the arid plains of the far west into the most fertile lands in the world. The destruction of the water canals in Mesopotamia, by withdrawing water, has transformed fertile grain fields that once supported great nations into sun baked plains strewn with barren brick heaps that were once thriving centres of commerce and science and art.

Water means not merely agricultural opportunity. Water flowing from a height means manufacturing opportunity. New England has seen its agriculture change by the competition of the more easily cultivated soils of the West. It has in these recent years been seeing in its shrunken rivers not merely a threat to such forms of agriculture as remain but a blow to the New England manufactures which these water powers first created.

How shall water be made plentiful, pure and regular in flow? The solution of that problem underlies the whole prosperity, agriculture and manufacturing of New England. It is more important because it is nearer the root of the matter than any other problem now in the hands of the National Congress and the New England Congressmen or Senator who is not giving something more than mere passive assent to the needed remedy is neglecting his prime duty to his constituency.

Back of the water supply is the forest. It is a disputed question whether or not forests actually attract rain and promote rainfall. One or two politicians, hostile to New England, who have crept into National office have tried to confuse the public mind by officially proved, though possible, that fiscally proved, though possible, that forests increase rainfall.

That, however, has never been claimed by those who demand the conservation of forests. They do claim, and this is not merely a scientific fact but the experience of every Nation of the World, that forests especially on watersheds and at the sources of great rivers do conserve such water as does fall and that they thus regulate streamflow, averting alike freshets in the Spring and droughts in the Summer and Fall.

Forest conservation can be justified without reference to water from the need of lumber supply. Forests are, however, invaluable also in the conservation of water. Whether forests do or do not act as a magnet to attract water, they unquestionably act as a sponge to preserve and distribute water.

The branches hold the snow and moisture, the matted leaves and roots and forest mold conserve it. Water tears its hasty way in torrents down a barren slope. It trickles slowly down the wooded hillside.

You do not need any scientist to prove that forests are natural reservoirs and preserve water. There isn't a person that has ever entered the woods in Summer who cannot testify, whether the woods are on a flat expanse or on a mountainside, how the hot dust of the open fields gives way under the protecting asylum of the leafy tree tops to mosses and ferns and coolness bred of moisture.

Water in gradual flow is a preserver of fertility. Water in masses is more destructive than fire. Fire at least leaves the soil, but the torrent sweeps away the very soil itself, leaving but the savage and sterile rock that can never be reclaimed.

Not merely the destruction of timber supply on the upper slopes of mountains, not merely the destruction of a regulated water supply to the more fertile valleys below, but the permanent and irremediable transformation of green hills into barren rocky peaks—this is what has already taken place in China and in Spain, this is what the neglect by the Nation of the White Mountain forests and of the forests of the Southern Appalachians threatens shall take place in the Atlantic slope of the United States.

The movement for internal waterways for the Central West, for irrigation for the Rocky Mountain table lands and for the Pacific slope are wise and necessary and should have the support of New England but both these wise schemes of legislation are to give to the Central West and Far West something new in the shape of water supply that they do not now possess. The movement for National Forest Reserves in the Appalachians is of more immediate importance than either of these. It alone among the branches of the conservation movement is aimed to prevent the destruction at the hands of careless greed, water supplies that exist already.

Inland waterways and irrigation promise support to an enlarged population that is yet to come. We must have forest reserves if we would avert disaster, disease and death from the population that is here now.

Four millions a year, of which New England pays a very large part, are spent out of the National Treasury, on the maintenance of National forest reserves in the West. Common justice demands that at least an equal sum should be spent on the acquisition and maintenance of similar National forest reserves in the South and East.

You do your share in the making of public opinion. It is you who pay the extra pennies from the family purse when the cows go dry and the plants wilt in the sun and the price of dairy products and vegetables go up in days of drought. It is your children who die when the shrinking waters of the great New England rivers breed disease germs in the festering drainage on the river banks. You can do your share to arouse public opinion that will force National action to move in the future not, as now, on sectional lines for the benefit of the West alone, but on National lines for the benefit of the whole Nation.

New England is not the only section that needs the conservation of the natural forest reservoirs at the head of her great rivers. Let us stand up also for the Southern wing of the Old Thirteen, the Thirteen States that made this Nation. No Senator or Representative from any of these threatened States should be permitted to sit securely in his seat with the statement that he has "done his best" to support the splendid leadership of Congressman Weeks of Massachusetts. Let each Senator or Congressman of ours be made to make it clear that the West and the Pacific slope must do without his vote of the money which we contribute for schemes for additions and increases to their present advantages of the West, until the vote of the West and of the Pacific Slope can in turn be counted on for some little expenditure of the same National taxes to prevent at least the further annihilation of the resources of the East and South still have left us.

A National Forest Reserve on the upper mountain slopes of New Hampshire is New England's most pressing need today. The Saco, the Androscoggin, the Merrimack, the Connecticut all depend for regularity of flow upon it more than upon any other one remedial measure. New Hampshire cannot pay for it alone. She cannot afford it. The only power that can affect it is the United States.

A National Forest Reserve, however, is by no means the only thing needed if we would secure conservation of our waters as well as of our woods.

Each State can do its part. Every State Park—every State reserve is a contribution.

The cities and towns can do their part. Fall River and Westfield are pioneers in this Commonwealth among the towns and cities seeking to establish municipal forests about the sources of their local water supply.

The individual can do his part by co-operation with State and local authorities in the study of conservation. The scientific cutting of a woodlot is not merely of advantage to the public but, as many of the great owners of timber land have found out, it is actually more profitable to the owner than the reckless destruction of every standing twig. The road builder who leaves cut brush and weeds to become tinder to catch the spark of the passing smoker, the lumberer who leaves the small branches of the cut tract to dry in the sun and spread the falling clinder from the locomotive into a roaring flame, the tramp and the hunter who leave their camp fire coals unextinguished, the boy who sets fires for fun, the mother who permits her children to collect the eggs of the philanthropist birds who kill the insects who kill the trees—all these are not merely enemies of nature, they are enemies of the life as well as the livelihood of New England.

You are much interested in high prices. Did you ever think that high retail prices are in part caused by the increasing cost of the wooden box in which fruit, vegetables, fish, game and even textiles are brought to market. Five and one-half millions of dollars were paid last year for the mere materials for boxes and crates in Massachusetts alone.

The prime need of forest conservation is the assurance of water supply. A second advantage is the necessity of a conservation of a timber supply. The wood working industries of Massachusetts (one of the smallest States in the Union and very far from the top as a manufacturer of wood) require 549,319,644 feet of wood, board measure, every year.

Yet the forest does more than conserve soil and water and furnish wood. It equalizes climate. There may be cold and storm but there are no blizzards in a wooded country. "There may be need for cyclone cellars in Kansas—there is none in Maine."

The human race began in a wood and it is by no accident that the word heathen means literally an inhabitant of treeless wastes. It is no accident that one of the oldest forms of religion in the world is the worship of trees.

Scene from "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," Tremont Theatre.

Save the trees! They save the water that drains the land of impurities and gives it life and fertility. They furnish a crop of timber that in one European town after another pays the entire expense of local government and exempts the people, to that extent, from taxes. They save the soil of the hill farms on which have grown not merely the sturdiest orchards but the sturdiest men and women. They break the blast of the hurricane and temper the fierceness of the summer sun.

If they were of no further use than to preserve some refuge where every jangling cord of the American's overwrought nervous system is soothed and stilled the forests should need no further plea. When we talk of heaven we still use the Eastern imagery that could think of no more perfect abode than a place of trees and shrubs and flowers, for Paradise, a word borrowed by the Hebrew from the Persian and Arab and by the Greek from the same source, literally means just that, a park, a place of trees and shrubs and flowers.

The Eastern story is no mere sentimental fancy. It strikes at the same basic fact of human existence echoed in American verse. "The groves were God's first temples."

NONANTUM MINSTRELS.

The 10th annual minstrels of Nonantum Athletic Association last week drew an audience which filled Lafayette Hall, Nonantum, and which heard an enlightening program. One of the features was the presence of young women in the chorus.

The program included the following musical numbers: "Cubaola Glide," John Kershaw; "Hot Dog Man," Alfred E. Hotin; "Molly Lee," Archie T. Harrigan; "Alexander Jones," John A. Leonard; "Abraham Lincoln Jones," Charles H. Shea; "To the End of the World with You," William Hansen; "H-a-s-h," Louis J. Tabaldi; "Wild Cherry Rag," Guy W. Myers.

The specialties included songs by Alice and Eddie Chapman, monologue by Guy W. Myers, a song sketch by the association's quartet and a monologue by Charles Hassett.

The end men were all tambors, they being Guy W. Myers, John Kershaw, Charles H. Shea, Louis J. Tabaldi, John A. Leonard and Alfred E. Hotin.

THEATRES

Park Theatre—That William Hodge as Daniel Vorhees Pike, attorney-at-law from Kokomo, Ind., in "The Man From Home," now playing at the Park Theatre, Boston, has caught the public fancy is putting it pretty mildly. If one is to judge by the enormous crowds that flock to this cozy theatre at every performance. Nightly the "Standing Room Only" sign is displayed and hundreds are turned away, not even able to gain admission.

The phenomenal business this particular play is drawing is one more evidence that the public want and demand plays of this sort. Theatre-goers have grown tired of the "girly girl" stunts, they want entertainment of the clean, wholesome and refreshing order.

"Then Man From Home" is filled with delightful bits of character drawing, with lines that are naturally humorous or serious, as occasion demands, but in every instance they appear to, and do, fit with astonishing exactness. The story never grows tiresome, no matter how often one might see the play, and in the hands of such an excellent company, interest is always maintained. The truth is that the second time one sees "The Man From Home" he really enjoys it better than the first time, for he is watching for the good points

TWENTY FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

OF THE INSTALLATION OF REV. JULIAN C. JAYNES

REV. JULIAN C. JAYNES AND HIS CHURCH (WEST NEWTON UNITARIAN).

The 25th anniversary of the installation and ordination of Rev. Julian C. Jaynes as the pastor of the First Unitarian Society in Newton was observed by a largely attended reception last Friday evening in the parish house of the church, West Newton.

The receiving party was partially surrounded by palms and under a canopy of laurel, the deep green being relieved by beautiful red roses, and the figures 1885-1910 in silver. Rev. and Mrs. Jaynes received with Mr. Josiah E. Bacon, chairman of the trustees, and Mrs. Bacon, Mr. Henry Whitmore, chairman of the standing committee, and Mrs. Whitmore, and Mr. Edward C. Burrage, who was chairman of the standing committee.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

A delegation of boys and the boys' work director from the Newton Young Men's Christian Association attended the State boys' conference which was held at Holyoke, Jan. 28-30. The young men who composed the delegation were Draper Swan, Wilmer Whitney, Frank Chivers, Theodore Morton, Jesse Rogers, George Merrill, Richard Wheeler and Samuel Gardner.

The conference was a delightful one, giving those who attended a deeper insight into the real work of the Young Men's Christian Association. The motto of the conference was "Do Good." The theme was the older boy's responsibility to the younger boy. The motto was well selected, for, at the last meeting of the conference when 400 boys joined hands and formed a circle around the inside of the Second Congregational Church and sang "Blest be the Tie that binds," every fellow's face showed that he had determined to return to his home and help the other fellow.

Already our boys at Newton have decided upon deeper work. Clubs will be organized which will be directed by the young delegates for the benefit and uplift of the boys of this town. On Monday, Jan. 31, the delegates took a trip to Florence, Mass., where they were shown the process of silk making, and if you are interested to know something about this ask one of the above named boys.

The meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday at 3:15 p. m. will be an echo of the conference, at which the delegates will give to the boys who remained at home a gist of the addresses made by the prominent speakers of the convention.

PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT.

The athletic team showed its superiority once more over the suburban teams by defeating Somerville in a dual meet at Somerville last Thursday night by the score of 30 to 15. Newton won all the first places excepting one, that being the potato race, which was won by Bezanon of Somerville, with V. Jacobs of the local association and of basket ball fame, a very close second. Jack Cody and John Hines were star performers, Cody winning first in the shotput and the running hop, step and jump, and Hines winning first in the 28-yard, and to the surprise of all, first in the three standing broad jumps. Somerville will compete in Newton Feb. 10, when it is expected the local team will win by a larger margin.

The basket ball teams went to Cambridge last Wednesday night in a crippled condition, four of the regulars staying at home, and lost both games.

A very interesting series of athletic meets came to a successful ending last Saturday morning in the Junior class. For several months the class has been divided into two teams, namely Harvard and Yale. At first the Yale team took the lead, but the last six weeks the Harvard team slowly pushed its way to the front and won the series by a margin of 20 points. Each member of the winning team who has been regular in attendance will be presented with a ribbon.

The dining rooms upstairs were decorated in crimson with a beautiful cluster of carnations adorning the coffee table. Refreshments were which called Mr. Jaynes to the pastorate.

Over 700 guests were present to do honor to the occasion, including many clergymen from all over the city and from surrounding towns, and the congregations of West Newton village. An orchestra played on the stage during the evening. The ushers were Messrs. William H. Bacon, Clarence G. Haskell, Arthur T. Lovett, John Avery, Jr., Dr. Edward Neilson, Lawrence Mayo, Jr., Henry W. Robins, F. Rogers Thomas, J. Dana Thomas and Edward C. Tolman.

ASSOCIATE ALLIANCE.

The meeting of the New England Associate Alliance, for which there was space last week for but a brief mention, brought out one of the largest representations it has ever had. Four hundred and sixty delegates responded to the roll call, representing 89 branches, while there were many more who were not included as belonging to any organization, so that fully 500 must have been in attendance. Following the greeting from Rev. A. L. Hudson and the brief devotional service conducted by him came a conference on the general subject of "Personal Responsibility." Miss Bertha Langmaid, president of the branch at Arlington Street Church, Boston, spoke of it as applied to the church and alliance. Mrs. W. O. Whithell of West Roxbury emphasized particularly the necessity of it among the officers and the difficulties they encounter, when it does not exist among the members. She suggested that possibly some officers are even selfish about bearing the responsibility themselves and make a mistake in not sharing it more with others.

Miss Grace Torr, secretary of the National Young People's Religious Union, presented the work of the young people and said that her experience might be different from some of the others, but she had found a deep sense of personal responsibility among those with whom she had been thrown, and among them she had found it to be akin to loyalty.

Mrs. Jessie E. Donahue of Manchester, N. H., a director of the Associate Alliance, brought a stirring message and exhortation to all present to be alive to all the needs of the church.

Mrs. J. A. Tufts of Exeter, a director of the National Alliance, presented a strong appeal to the women to support all the activities of the church, the church publications, and above all to have personal responsibility in the matter of church attendance.

The organization voted to urge the cause of the publications and to commend them to their separate branches. The women also placed themselves on record as pledging themselves to further responsibility in the matter of church attendance.

The chairman of the postoffice mission committee of the National Alliance spoke of details of her work, and the chairman of the committee on appeals explained some of the appeals which now are before the branches.

Between the sessions luncheon was served to the officers and speakers by a committee of Channing Alliance, Mrs. Ralph C. Emery, chairman, while the delegates partook of a box luncheon, coffee and tea being served by the hostess.

In the afternoon a member of the Wollaston branch told of her experience in starting cheerful letter work. The rest of the session was given up to two addresses, Rev. Theodore D. Bacon of Salem speaking upon "Our Responsibility as Mediators." Mr. Bacon dwelt upon the feeling that has existed from the time of time of the necessity of there being some mediator between man and God. That mediator has changed as our theology has changed.

"It is not enough that people should know the truth. In order that it may satisfy human needs it must be brought to them in living form. The old mediatorial forms of an infallible church or an infallible Bible have lost their power. For Unitarians, at least, Jesus Christ is no longer the one only mediator and advocate. The only way, then, for them is that they, individually and as a body, should be mediators. As children of God they must be saviors, must live the life of God and make Him known to men by their lives. It is a great task, but it cannot be avoided. In assuming it they are but following out the teaching and example of Jesus."

The closing address was by Rev. Robert F. Leavens of Fitchburg, who took for a subject "Freedom and Responsibility." He dwelt upon the cost of the freedom that is the Unitarian's, tracing its course from early times, and then brought out the responsibility that is his in the consequence of that freedom.

He received his academic education at the University of Wisconsin and his professional education at the Harvard Divinity School.

He was ordained to the ministry and installed as pastor of the West Newton church on Jan. 28, 1885. His marriage to Miss Helen Nell Haynes took place a few weeks prior to his installation. They have one daughter, Miss Ethel M. Jaynes, and reside on Prince street, West Newton.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

During the next two weeks a concentrated effort will be made to raise the indebtedness of St. John's Church. This Episcopal parish, which was organized in 1897 and whose attractive stone church is located at the corner of Lowell avenue and Otis street, Newtonville, has under the direction of Rev. Richard T. Loring, come to occupy an important place in the community. Its congregations are large and its services are attractive and enriched by good music.

Ever since the church was built the parish has carried a debt which amounts now to a little less than $10,000. For the purpose of paying off this debt a systematic canvass of the parishioners and friends of the church will be made in the next two weeks in an effort to secure a sufficient number of pledges to wipe out the debt. These pledges will be payable in three annual installments, thus enabling every member of the parish to bear his part.

More than half the amount of the debt has been raised in the vestry conditional upon the balance being secured within a short time. The members of the St. John's vestry are: Frank T. Benner, senior warden; Charles F. Avery, junior warden; Charles W. Leonard, Judge Marcus Morton, Enoch C. Adams, Edward P. Hatch, Edgar S. Buffum, clerk; Willard C. Warren, treasurer.

LASELL SEMINARY.

Prof. William R. Brooks of Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y., will give two lectures at Lasell Seminary on the evenings of Feb. 9 and 10, at 7:45 o'clock. Subjects, "The Evening and Morning Stars" and "Comets and Meteors."

The public is cordially invited to attend.

LODGES.

The following are the officers of Garden City Lodge, N. E. O. P., recently installed to serve the coming year: Warden, Justin A. McCarthy; P. W., Llewellyn E. Huston; V. W., Thomas J. Burke; secretary, Anna M. McKenna; F. S., Louise C. Hagedorn; treasurer, Thomas J. Lyons; chaplain, Katherine G. McBride; guardian, Annie M. Burke; sentinel, Edmund Joyal.

CIVIC CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Civic Club of Newton, composed of present and past members of the city government, held at Hotel Lenox last Wednesday evening, was a most enjoyable occasion. The attendance was unusually large, attracted no doubt by the fact that Mr. Frederick P. Fleh, chairman of the State Board of Education, was the principal speaker and that the program included a discussion of live matters relating to Newton schools.

The nominating committee, composed of Mr. M. B. Jones, Mr. F. H. Underwood and Hon. H. E. Bothfield, reported during the evening in favor of re-electing the present officers, and the club then elected Mr. Palmer for president, all living ex-Mayors as vice-presidents, Messrs. E. P. Bosson, O. M. Fisher and Alston Burr as an executive committee and J. C. Brimblecom as secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Fleh made a most interesting address, showing the changes which modern conditions had made in matters of education. He stated that 60 years ago the boy and girl received a large part of their education outside of the schoolroom, in their work about the home, in observation and in their relations to the life about them. In those days, he said, the tool was an adjunct of the man and the best work was done by the man with the most skill and the most intelligence. Nowadays the man is a mere adjunct to a machine and becomes highly specialized in performing but a single part of the whole operation. The immense growth of population has also deprived the children of the former opportunities to be trained outside of the schoolhouse and it has become the duty of the State which requires 40 weeks of school attendance of five hours each day to so fit that youth of the State so that they shall become fitted to fill the station of life to which they are best adapted. Mr. Fleh believed that the age of 12 was the time to differentiate between those pupils who were to be educated for the professions and those who by inclination or condition preferred the industrial education. He spoke highly of the work done in Newton in the independent industrial school and in the Technical High School and referred to Dr. Spaulding as the best qualified in administrative educational matters in the State.

President Palmer read many figures to show the greatly increased cost of our school system in the past few years and called upon Hon. H. E. Bothfield to open the discussion on the proposition to reduce the membership of the school committee and to limit school expenses to a fixed proportion of the tax levy. Mr. Bothfield stated that there was little to be said against the reduced membership of the school board as it had been clearly shown that the present number was far too large and that a smaller number would be sufficient to do the work, which was now more of a business nature than educational. Mr. Bothfield also favored a definite sum for school expenses, because the present method creates a divided responsibility between the school committee and the Board of Aldermen and because the school year and the financial year were not identical.

Mr. Jones, the next speaker, did not agree with Mr. Bothfield as he believed there should be more elasticity in the matter of appropriations. Ex-Mayor Hutchinson and Superintendent Spaulding, who followed, were also against making the school appropriation a fixed proportion of the levy. The discussion was of great interest and it was with much regret that the lateness of the hour compelled adjournment.

Among those present were ex-Mayors H. E. Bothfield, A. R. Weed and George Hutchinson, Aldermen F. W. Stone, W. S. Higgins, G. M. Cox, E. F. Woods, F. H. Underwood, F. R. Moore, T. J. Sullivan, B. P. Gray, L. D. Towle, W. H. Barker and Nathan Heard, Representative T. W. White, ex-Aldermen Lawrence Bond, A. P. Carter, C. S. Ensign, T. B. Fitzpatrick, A. E. Alvord, E. B. Bishop, L. E. G. Green, C. D. Cabot, E. P. Bosson, O. A. Brown, Reuben Forknall, George P. Bullard, Henry Bailey, C. S. Denison, ex-Councilmen G. E. Wales, Dr. J. P. Frisbie, Lewis P. Everett, H. H. Read, and these members and ex-members of the school committee: Herbert Stebbins, W. H. Rice, J. N. Palmer, W. E. Parker, R. S. Gorham, H. C. Hardon and F. H. Howes, H. D. Cabot and J. C. Brimblecom.

ANNUAL MEETING.

At the annual meeting of the Newton Home for Aged People held this week these officers were elected: President, Charles E. Riley; vice-president, Joseph Byers; clerk, Henry Bally; treasurer, Albert P. Carter; directors, Lewis H. Bacon, Joseph Byers, Albert P. Carter, Mrs. Morton E. Cobb, Calvert Orary, George H. Ellis, Frank J. Hale, Mrs. George Hutchinson, Mrs. Ellen P. Kimball, Mrs. Charles W. Leonard, Mrs. Mary R. Martin, Albert Metcalf, Hon. Marcus Morton, Francis Murdoch, Rev. Theodore P. Prudden, Charles E. Riley, Miss Abby Spear, Hon. Edgar W. Warren, Mrs. Henry B. Cobb.

NARROW ESCAPE

Miss Teresa Zogel of Jefferson street and her guest, Miss Alice Hanson of Rosindale, had a narrow escape from drowning Tuesday afternoon by breaking thru the ice on Charles River near the North Beacon street bridge, opposite the Watertown arsenal.

Their cries attracted Albert Condon of Fayette street, Newton. The latter took off his overcoat and threw it to the struggling girls, but they were too chilled to seize the garment. Mr. Condon then attempted to reach the pair, and the ice broke under him, and he too was soon struggling in the water.

Officer E. J. Doyle, who was attracted by the cries of the girls, appeared on the scene, and with the ladder and rope kept nearby by the park authorities, succeeded in getting all three out of the water.

Supt. Gilman took the young women to the Jefferson street house in Newton in his auto, and a doctor was called. Condon was taken to his home in a carriage.

Supt. Gilman is very desirous that the public be warned of the dangerous condition of the ice. He said that at no place along the river from Cottage Farm to Watertown is it safe; on the contrary it is extremely dangerous.

MINSTREL SHOW.

A minstrel show was presented by the choir of Grace Church at the Hunnewell Club Tuesday evening before an audience that taxed the assembly hall to its utmost capacity. It was one of the best entertainments ever given by the choir, full of jokes and local hits, and reflects great credit on the choir master and director, Mr. Charles N. Sladen. Mr. Richard Hill presided at the piano and the personnel was as follows: Interlocutor, Irving U. Townsend, Jr.; tambos, William Hanson, W. H. Ray Roope, E. Warren Blue, E. Willard Phippen; chorus, Geoffrey Baker, Elmer A. Bennett, Harold F. Bennett, W. P. H. Bennett, Richard Casmay, Irving G. Clark, John E. Cox, Thomas E. Cutler, Charles K. Davenport, Albert Edwards, W. Y. M. Fawcett, Cyril W. Forbush, Arthur Fairweather, W. E. Hollingsworth, A. J. Kerr, H. W. Jackson, J. Linton Kerr, E. D. G. Lehman, William F. Meakin, James H. Townsend, Edward S. Wheeler, Bradford Story, Charles A. Collins, Richard U. Clark, 3d, Harold T. Bent. The soloists were Harold Bennett, W. H. Ray Roope, Albert P. Pickernall, William Hanson, Robert H. Somers, E. Warren Blue, Edwin E. Leighton, E. Willard Phippen and Elmer Bennett. Mr. Arthur Gilbert gave a monologue. After the entertainment dancing was enjoyed.

DRIVEN OUT

Members of the family of A. U. Jaasted were forced to grope to safety through blinding smoke when fire broke out in their home at 133 Newtonville avenue, Newton, Monday night. The blaze, which was caused by a defective fireplace, burned out two rooms, the damage being less than $1000.

The fire started in a room on the street floor, while all the members of the family were asleep. The smoke awakened them, and they had barely time to make their way out safely. The house is situated on the slope of Mt. Ida, and the apparatus had a difficult climb to reach the place. Henry H. Hawkins is the owner of the dwelling.

MAN SHOT.

Farhane Oslargian, 20 years old, boarding at 62 Mechanic street, Newton Upper Falls, was taken to the Newton Hospital Saturday night suffering from a bullet wound in the cheek and jaw. The bullet entered the jaw and continued down into the man's shoulder.

Oslargian claims to have fired the shot himself accidentally, but the police think differently. They claim that a friend of the injured man fired the shot. The injury is not a serious one.

ORGAN RECITAL.

Next Sunday evening John Hermann Loeb will give the sixth free organ recital of this season's series in First Baptist Church, Newton Centre. He will be assisted by Russell B. Kingman, a violinist of marked ability, the full program being as follows:

INTERESTING LECTURE.

Prof. Henry P. Talbot of Balcarras road, West Newton, will speak on "The Chemistry of Modern Illuminants" at the chemical lecture room, No. 6, Lowell building, Clarendon street, Boston, at the 66th meeting of the Society of Arts of the M. I. T. on Feb. 23, at 8 o'clock, and to which the public is invited. Professor Talbot will give a non-technical account of the sources and preparation of the materials employed in the modern systems of household illumination, and the nature of the products which, in many cases, escape into the atmosphere of our rooms. Candles, burning oils, illuminating gas, acetylene and incandescent mantles will be included in the discussion of the evening, which will be illustrated by experiments and lantern slides.

REAL ESTATE.

Charles F. Dow of Centre street, Newton, has bought of Hiram W. Rowell, trustee, 25,000 feet of land corner of Boylston street and Woodcliff road, Newton Highlands, and having 249 feet frontage on Boylston street; also 16,000 feet on Woodcliff road, assessed at 20 cents per foot. Four two-family houses will be erected during the season.

MR. DAY HONORED SPLENDID TRIBUTE TO HIM

With words of praise and appreciation, all of which rang true and all of which were sincere, a hundred men gathered Monday evening at the Newton Club house to honor Mr. Frank A. Day, ostensibly for his splendid leadership in the recent campaign for a new building for the Newton Y. M. C. A., but in reality to pay tribute to the man and his work in the many phases of which his personality and generosity have been engaged for so many years.

The affair took the form of a dinner given to Mr. Day by the captains of the several teams taking part in the building fund campaign and was in charge of a committee consisting of Messrs. Franklin W. Ganse, William J. Follett, Charles A. Haskell, Edwin O. Childs, Jr., and Harry W. Bascom. Previous to the banquet Mr. Day received informally in the reading room. The assembly hall was simply decorated with festoons of laurel and a beautiful mound of red carnations marked the place of honor at the head table. An orchestra played popular music while the dinner was being served.

Grace was said by Rev. Julian C. Jaynes of West Newton, after which an excellent and well served dinner was enjoyed.

Seated at the head table with Mr. Day were Mr. Allan C. Emery, president of the association; Mr. Edwin O. Childs, Jr., the toastmaster of the evening; Mayor Charles E. Hatfield, Hon. George Hutchinson, Mr. William C. Bray, Mr. James E. Clark, Mr. Herbert A. Wilder, Rev. H. Grant Person, Mr. Harry W. Bascom, secretary of the association, and Mr. E. W. Hearn, State secretary for Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

In opening the post-prandial proceedings, President Emery said that we had gathered to honor a man we all love and admire, to us a leader, to our city an inspiration and to every boy a neighbor and a friend.

Mr. Childs in accepting the office of toastmaster read a letter from Mr. F. W. Ganse, who had been unexpectedly called away on business and who had been first selected for the position. Mr. Childs first introduced Mr. Day, saying we were here to pay our respects to the guest of honor whose leadership made this campaign such a success, because we were united for that work and because this unity ought to be continued until it is used for other good purposes for Newton.

Mr. Day was received with three cheers and a tiger and it was several minutes before he could be heard. He said in part:

I am inherently a modest man and firmly believe that there are many others who should be honored before you came to me. I believe that our success was due to the good civic spirit Newton always has shown when there was something worth doing. I can state that of the $127,000 pledged in money, $54,000 has already been paid in and a building committee has been appointed. While it has been very easy to raise this money, I think it is a far harder task to spend it wisely so as to satisfy the 1630 donors to the fund. Conservatism is now much in the public mind, of forests, water power and natural resources. I believe we have not thought enough of the need of conservatism of the priceless young men and young women of the nation. Industrial education is a factor in this work. While I have felt that the lack of it causes many to be far less useful in the world than they might have been, my attention has been called recently to the inmates of one of our State prisons, and I am beginning to believe that the lack of this education may even cause men to go wrong. I believe that a system of industrial education would in a few years lessen the number of those who go astray. We should strive to promote it in every way. The Y. M. C. A. rooms take the boys off the street, give them good moral associations and bring them in contact with the "big brothers" at a period of life when they are easily influenced. In starting this association with the wherewithal, we have done a distinctive act of conservatism for the young people of Newton. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for this reception and assure you that I esteem it very highly.

Secretary Bascom was introduced and brought the greetings of the boys to Mr. Day and then read the following letters:

Hon. John W. Weeks.

I am very sorry that I shall be unable to be present at the dinner to be given in honor of Mr. Day, but am greatly pleased that the Newton Young Men's Christian Association appreciates his work and is going to call to public attention its estimate of it. However, it is fair to say that Mr. Day's work in this matter is not an isolated case, but is a simple illustration of what he is doing constantly in many different directions. If every association and person to whom he shows some kindness, or to whom he gives a helping hand, were to respond with a dinner, his days would be fully occupied.

Yours very truly,
JOHN W. WEEKS.

Mr. Dwight Chester.

It would give me great pleasure to join others in giving honor to Mr. Frank A. Day on Monday evening, Feb. 7, and it is with sincere regret (Continued on Page 4.)

NEWTON WINS.

Newton won the dual athletic meet with Somerville Y. M. C. A. at the local Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night by a score of 32 to 18.

Fifteen of Newton's points were scored by John J. Cody, who took first place in three events and opened up such a lead in the first lap of the relay race that his team scored five more points.

One local record was broken, John Hines setting a mark of 26.4-5 seconds in the 300-yard run. He defeated Mather, the former Lawrence Light Guard's crack, by 10 yards. The latter disputed the time and the conditions of the race, but Referee Hugh McGrath refused to deprive Hines of his victory.

An added attraction was a midge relay race between teams representing the preparatory and junior gym classes. It was won by the prep team in an exciting finish.

The summary:
20-yard dash—Won by Ross, Somerville; second, Mather, Somerville; third, Morton, Newton. Time 2.4-5.
12-pound shotput—Won by Cody, Newton; second, Kelley, Somerville; third, Mather, Somerville. Distance, 45 ft. 5-12 in.

VIOLETS,
ROSES CARNATIONS

Beautiful flowers are far more in keeping with the tender sentiments of St. Valentine's Day than any expression in the form of inscribed paper. Nothing expresses the spirit of the day so perfectly; nothing you can send your sweetheart or wife which will convey tenderness, love and affection so well, for flowers are lovely; love is flower like.

MR. DAY HONORED.

that, on account of my absence from the State, I shall be unable to be present.

Mr. Day represents the highest type of Christian manhood. His generosity along lines of the highest standard is a stimulus to all of us. His genial methods of work are contagious and win us all to similar service, though with most of us in much less degree.

Extend to him my hearty congratulations and best wishes.

Very sincerely yours,
DWIGHT CHESTER

Mr. F. W. Stearns.

I very much regret that I shall not be able to attend the dinner to be given to Mr. Frank A. Day.

He certainly deserves all the honor we can give him for his tireless and efficient work in raising the Young Men's Christian Association fund. Yours truly,

F. W. STEARNS.

Mr. W. F. Garcelon.

I greatly regret that a previous engagement prevents my attending the dinner of Feb. 7 to be given in honor of Mr. Frank A. Day. The spirit that he has put into the work that he has undertaken in the Y. M. C. A. building campaign and in many other campaigns less generally known has inspired many men to be energetic and to do better work in matters of civic improvement. Yours truly,

WILLIAM F. GARCELON.

In introducing Mayor Hatfield, Mr. Childs said that to neglect politics for private reasons was as bad as to manipulate politics for the same reason, and introduced the Mayor as a maker of aldermen, mayors, councilors, congressmen and lieutenant-governors.

Mayor Hatfield was also received with three cheers and a tiger.

Mr. Hatfield said that it was an honor to bring the greetings of the city to the distinguished guest. He declared that there was no citizen more worthy as he seemed to be inspired to do the right thing at the right time. Newton owes him a great debt not only for his work in this building campaign, but for many other good deeds, for he is the great "unknown citizen" of Newton.

The young men of the city also owe him a great deal for his splendid work for the future citizens of Newton. He is the type of man we would all like our boys to become.

In closing Mr. Hatfield referred to Mr. Day in the following graceful and most appropriate lines:

May the white foam of the ocean
Be not lighter than your cares;
May love leave out of her nectar,
Drops of heartache, tears and snarls;
May old Time who steals our treasures,
Keep his finger off your life,
May you stay not scared but tempered
By the days' turmoil and strife;
May you be the same good fellow,
Genial spirit, man and friend,
Till the shadows fall and lengthen,
And life's beaten trail shall end.

Ex-Mayor George Hutchinson was referred to by the toastmaster as one who had been under the strongest rays of sunlight and no flaw could be discovered in his armor nor stain on his shield.

He received three cheers and a tiger and said that he had made a careful study of Mr. Day and found that the subject had grown bigger and bigger every day. He could never attain any greater heights in the hearts of the citizens of Newton as he was already at the summit. We all realize and appreciate, he said, the good work you have done in raising this gift of money and you have the best wishes of the community for your success.

Mr. E. W. Hearn, State secretary for Massachusetts and Rhode Island, said that there had been 11 successful campaigns the past fall for Y. M. C. A. buildings and the end was not yet in sight. He had noticed in scanning the subscription lists of all these campaigns that the same name appeared on them all—that of the guest of the evening. Turning to the members of the teams, Mr. Hearn reminded them that they were forgetting the turn-downs they had received and remembered only the joys and pleasures.

The good will you have acquired is of great value and I suggest that you hold an annual reunion on the day the campaign closed.

Rev. H. Grant Person told some capital stories before coming to the serious part of his remarks. He declared Mr. Day to be the most remarkable man he had ever known—a man who knows something of the Christian stewardship of money. Some look upon it, he said, in a selfish way, others spend it upon themselves and as they keep the money in circulation they are doing all that was required of them, while others believed in laying out their money in good causes. He said that Mr. Day was a tremendous worker and an absolutely clean man in every respect and wished the boys of Newton would follow such an example as Mr. Day. He expressed the wish that we could train the rising generation to emulate Mr. Day by doing good with their money and doing good with their influence and their good life.

Mr. Conover, captain of Team 6; Mr. D. Fletcher Barber, for Team 5; Mr. George C. Dunne, for Team 3, all spoke briefly of their regard for the guest of honor.

Mr. William J. Follett told how he was hypnotized into joining Mr. Day's band of holdup highwaymen and expressed his great appreciation of such a collection of enthusiastic ex-tractors. He said that all believed the Y. M. C. A. was doing a marvellous work and were proud that they had had a share in its success. He believed the organization should be retained until Newton had all it needed for Y. M. C. A. work.

Ex-Congressman Samuel L. Powers, called upon to tell a few stories, declined to measure swords in this respect with clergymen and said that he knew that Mr. Day was a good fellow long before this Y. M. C. A. movement was started. He declared that it was not the gifts of large sums of money after death to hospitals and colleges but the gift of what one could afford to help the many that was the best service to humanity. He suggested that Mr. Day was the executor of his own will. He looks after his gifts and sees the good during his own life. We have in Newton the right spirit in our citizens and in our public men and he was glad to honor one of them tonight.

Mr. Charles A. Haskell said he had never seen anything so inspiring as the recent Y. M. C. A. canvass, and the enthusiasm aroused at those nightly gatherings of the workers. He was greatly impressed with the response made by the south side of the city which could not in the nature of things be so closely interested as the rest of Newton. He said that Mr. Day's noble leadership was an inspiration and closed with a paraphrase of Holland's poem, "God give us men."

Mr. F. S. Retan said we had gathered to do honor to a man and a great organization. The Y. M. C. A. is making men like this all over the country, and while of English origin it has adapted itself peculiarly to America and appeals most strongly to American ways and American ideals. He said that this country reminded him of a great pipe organ with each nationality a separate bank of keys. From the one bank is heard the German "Watch on the Rhine," from another the French "Marseillaise," from another the British "God Save the King," from another the beautiful "Swanee River," while the full organ unites them all in the grand old hymn of "America." The Y. M. C. A. has declared is changing the lives of Young America, by touching the life of the whole family. He closed by saying that he could not refrain from adding his testimony to the spiritual uplift of the work and its stimulation to his optimism.

Rev. E. M. Noyes spoke of the esteem in which all held Mr. Day and said we had better say these things before he is dead. He stated that the Newton Centre contribution had been raised with the understanding that the contributors would be called upon within the next two years to triple their contributions for another building at Newton Centre. He spoke of the great good the Newton Centre playground was doing with 250 or 300 children using it every pleasant summer afternoon and hoped its example would be extended to other parts of the city.

In introducing the last speaker Mr. Childs said that the Y. M. C. A. emphasizes three facts—that life is too short to be spent selfishly, that each one is his brother's keeper, and that we should love our neighbor as ourselves. The association holds up before young men their responsibility to young men, and he then presented Mr. Allan C. Emery, president of the association, as the finest type of Christian manhood.

Mr. Emery said that the men before him had made it possible for character to be developed in the city as it had never before. He compared the work to be like many looms to be manned by these with power, skill and enthusiasm in order to make the finest texture of Christian character, and while it was a good thing to have a fine equipment, it was absolutely necessary for men to put in their own work in order to achieve success. He asked that the men present would put themselves into the association work so that the boys will emulate the best that is in you. Dedicate this building to the rich, red blood of young hero worshippers and it will be a success. Money will not do it. It must be done by men, and all have a tremendous responsibility to the youth of our city to make this organization a power for good.

The meeting closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Among those present were Everett E. Kent, Freedom Hutchinson, H. H. Hawkins, E. W. Hearn, John Hope, Charles F. Avery, D. J. Mac-Nichol, E. H. Ellison, F. L. Trowbridge, Hon. S. W. HONOR LINCOLN DAY.

Editor of Newton Graphic:

Dear Sir—Last year the Day of Rejoicing in Boston and surrounding places was held on Lincoln's Birthday. Would it not be possible to continue the custom each year? What better way could we remember him than by helping the poor and unfortunate on his birthday? If we could give but little singly, the aggregate would be large and anyone could send a cheerful letter or make a friendly call on some discouraged friend or neighbor on that day.

I wish others would express their opinion on this subject.

THEODORE CHASE.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

On next Sunday afternoon at 3:15 the reports from the boys' conference will be given by the delegates. Mr. Walter Gilliam, boys' work director, will have charge of the meeting. Invitations have been issued to both men and women to come to this meeting, and it is hoped that parents of many of the members of the association will be present. Anyone is welcome to come.

The board of directors will meet on Saturday evening, Feb. 12, at 7:30 o'clock. Just previous to this meeting there will be a meeting of members of the association to vote on a change of constitution increasing the board of directors from 15 to 18 members.

Mr. C. V. Moore, who has long represented the Newton association in athletics, has been made chairman of the committee which will have charge of the State indoor meet of all associations in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. The meet will be held in the Tech gymnasium under the joint control of the Boston association and the State athletic committee.

Johnny Hines has been entered in the B. A. meet by the association on account of his splendid record in the dashes. Other members of the association will also take part in the meet.

A Camera Club of 11 members has been organized in the boys' department. William Cady has been chosen president. All members are enthusiastic and doubtless some time in the future an exhibition of their pictures will be held.

Every one in Newton or Needham is practically "next door" to a city interior decorating house. It takes only a postal or a telephone call to bring one of our salesmen to you. You get city service, city goods and styles, and BETTER than city prices, without the troublesome trip in town.

We guarantee without reserve complete satisfaction. Send for us to talk over papering, decorating, upholstering, fine furniture,—anything, in fact, in the painting and decorating line.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

The most important event of the week from a Newton standpoint was the resignation of Representative White from the committee on election laws and his appointment to the important committee on ways and means. It is true that many of the larger appropriation bills have already been considered by that committee, but Mr. White will have the opportunity to pass upon most of the bills for metropolitan expenses, and in which Newton has such a vital interest.The Newton bills were also heard this week by the committee on cities and included those to amend the city charter by taking away the consenting power of the Board of Aldermen to removal of city officials, to authorize an increase in sewer loan outside the debt limit, and to authorize the widening of River street by taking land from the West Newton Cemetery.City Solicitor Slocum presented the matters for the city and ex-Mayor Weed appeared in behalf of the bill to authorize the Mayor to remove city officials. It was opposed by the editor of this paper, on the ground that there was no public sentiment for the change in this city and that the settled policy of the city should not be changed without a popular referendum.Mr. F. O. Stearns also spoke. City Engineer Rogers explained the matter of widening of River street and Mr. Lawrence Bond spoke in opposition. City Treasurer Newhall spoke on the bill to authorize an increase in the sewer loan.Some of the interesting bills introduced include one to authorize the Governor and council to fill vacancies in the office of county commissioner, to increase the number of county commissioners in Middlesex to five, to authorize school committees to furnish meals to children in the public schools, to place registrars of voters under civil service rules, for the acquisition of land for a park and parkway in Boston, Newton, Brookline and Watertown, and for the annexation of part of Newton to Boston.Speaker Walker's bill for a more effective supervision of the expenditures of the State has been filed and referred to the committee on ways and means, where Representative White's experience in making up the appropriation bills of the city will be of value.An interesting hearing was held last week by the Boston Transit Commission on the matter of taking immediate action on the Riverbank subway, so called, which is to be of such importance to Newton. The law authorizes construction to begin one year after the opening of the Washington street subway and the Riverbank Protective Association of some 200 members has been organized to agitate the matter. The hearing brought forth the fact that the Transit Commission had gone on record twice as favoring the project and that speedy construction was necessary on account of the great traffic congestion on Boylston street.

Women's Clubs

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt

Those who attended the ninth biennial two years ago in Boston will recall that Mrs. Decker, then president, in her report recommended abolishing the household economics committee in the General Federation. The spirited discussion which this recommendation brought out will also be recalled, as well as how Mrs. Decker, when the debate was highest, casually remarked that she didn't believe in doing it when she inserted the recommendation. She thought that the subject had been neglected and that if the women were going to do nothing about it, it had better be dropped. In reality she had done so to stir up discussion and to arouse them to a sense of its importance. This action seems to have given the subject a new impetus, so that it has since then taken on a new lease of life. In Massachusetts the subject is coming more and more to the front, while in our own city two clubs are showing active interest in it. It means more than merely a demonstration cooking lecture as those who have been following the work of the Social Science Club this winter have noticed. The course of lectures, which began in Newton Centre this week and a program of which is given below, brings out still other suggestive subjects and should prove of great interest.

Announcements are coming in regarding the 10th biennial to be held in Cincinnati, May 11-18. The hotel committee states that it feels able to assign 3000 women to hotel accommodations. The Sinton Hotel will be the official headquarters.

The Springer Music Hall, with a seating capacity of 3623, has been selected as the convention hall and many smaller ones will be pressed into service for conferences, committee meetings and state headquarters. The Cincinnati Women's Club house is nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy by that time.

The February Federation Bulletin is at hand. The articles of general interest this month are largely devoted to forestry and conservation, with illustrations of the beautiful Hetch-Hetchy Valley. The practical work of the women's clubs for the playground movement and for art receives special attention. The General Federation and State Federation announcements give much of interest. Each number contains so much well worth attention that the club women who do not see the magazine are missing a great deal.

On Feb. 14 the Monday Club of Newton Highlands will observe "Guest Day" at Odd Fellows' Hall.

The Newtonian Woman's Guild meets on Tuesday afternoon.

At the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning the study of the Domestic Plant will be conducted with a paper upon "The Competitors of the Home: College, Church, Club."

The Newton Ladies' Home Circle will meet on Thursday, Feb. 17, in G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville.

The committee on legislative affairs of the State Federation will hold a conference at the New England Women's Club rooms, Chauncy Hall building, Boston, on Saturday, Feb. 19, at 2:30 p. m.

The bills now before the Legislature and the best methods of effective work in 245 women's clubs will be considered.
Chairmen of club committees on legislative affairs are invited to attend and to make suggestions. Presidents of clubs are requested to send delegates if they cannot be present themselves.

The Newton Federation of Women's Clubs announces its next meeting to be held on March 3, at Newtonville. Mrs. Fred H. Tucker will give an illustrated lecture upon "Forestry and Conservation," to which the public will be cordially invited. Further particulars will be given later.

The subjects of the remaining lectures of Miss Howard's cooking class under the auspices of the Newton Centre Woman's Club at the Technical High School, Newtonville, are as follows:

Feb. 12—A luncheon for six, costing $1.50. Including a soup, fish, meat, salad, dessert, coffee.

Feb. 13—Breakfast dainties.

Feb. 14—Vegetables and a vegetable dinner of four courses.

March 5—Cakes, candies, bonbons.

March 12—An eight-course dinner to cost $3.

The last lecture of the course will be on salads and sandwiches for school and teas, the date to be announced later. Anyone may attend these lectures, the fee being 50 cents each time.

Another course of lectures under the auspices of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Household Economics began this week, the subject being "The Physical Health of the Home and Its Significance."

On Feb. 17, Mrs. Blanche C. Hyde of the Technical High School will speak on "The History and Development of Natural Resources."

March 1—"Labor-Saving Devices in the Home," by Mrs. Hyde.

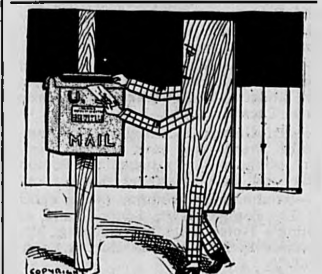

March 6—"Home Training of Girls," by Mrs. Ellen H. Richards.

March 15—"The Spiritual Health of the Home and Its Significance," by Rev. O. P. Gifford.

Lately returned from EuropeMrs. Nutter of Oak street entertained the Pierian Club on Wednesday afternoon. The program, in charge of Mrs. Willard and Mrs.
Newey, was on "Emergencies" and proved interesting. Miss Dyson played two piano selections.Dr. Charles A. Eastman spoke before the Waban Woman's Club and their guests in the village hall last Monday evening. Dr. Eastman's subject was "The Real Indian" and his interesting descriptions pertained to the manners and customs of the primitive Red Men of this country. A full Indian costume added to the effectiveness of the speaker.On Feb. 21 Mrs. Walter E. Brown will entertain the club and Mrs.
Rachel Neah France will tell of her "Recollections of the Stage."At the meeting of the Monday Club on Feb. 7 the study of George Eliot was begun with a fine paper upon her life and a comprehensive review of "Daniel Deronda." The poem, "The Choir Invisible," was rendered by a professional reader. It was altogether a very interesting and profitable afternoon.On Monday evening the Newton Mother's Club observed "Gentlemen's Night" at the home of Mrs. Hubert Carter. The program included violin selections by Miss Elsie Kimberly, songs by Mrs. G. R. Pulsifer and Miss Ethel Jaynes, with Mrs. A. P. Carter at the piano, and monologues by Miss Helen Legate. Refreshments and a social hour concluded a delightful evening.The Auburndale Review Club met with Mrs. William Knowlton on Tuesday morning and continued the study of France. Miss Ella B. Smith read selections from Moliere's play
"L'Avare." Mrs. Gore gave a paper on "The Ancient Regime" and Mrs.
R. I. Bridgman on "Louis XVI, Marie Antoinette and the Little Dauphin." On account of the holiday the club will not meet again until March 1.The Social Science Club at its meeting on Wednesday morning considered "Modern Problems within the Home."Mrs. G. W. Priest spoke regarding the nurse or the hospital, presenting arguments on both sides. She said that it is a question which comes very suddenly, to many and the decision should be, what is best for the family as a whole. She pointed out the sanitary advantages of the hospital as having been constructed especially for the sick. The question of feeding the patient is often a problem that can be better taken care of in the hospital. As to expense in serious cases it is cheaper in serious cases to go to a hospital. From her own personal experience she felt that for the good of the patient and the good of the family the hospital is the best place in which to be sick.In the course of the discussion Mrs.
J. F. Bothfeld told something of the care of nervous diseases in the State Hospitals for the Insane. Other members expressed various opinions regarding the relative advantages of hospital and home, the mother-heart for the most part feeling that it could not bear to have the child taken away where she could not at least oversee the care that is being given. One member said that the hospital is the best place in which to be sick, but the home in which to convalesce."The Servant in the House" was presented by Mrs. Jesse C. Ivy. In opening her paper Mrs. Ivy said:
"Very few of the mothers who walk about their trials in connection with servants discuss the question. They merely exchange experiences; they do not analyze them; they tell what happens, but they do not try to tell why." She quoted an article from the Outlook which says that one of the chief intricacies of this problem comes from lack of training for her duties in both mistress and maid, which renders it impossible to put the matter on a professional basis.
The need of more scientific training of young women in the schools and colleges was dwelt upon. Some of the reasons why girls have objected to domestic service were presented and the writer suggested that this reluctance of young women to become domestic servants must be solved privately and particularly, for in no two households are the elements of the problem precisely the same."I think if we women would be more loyal to each other, less selfish, have more esprit de corps, we would work, perhaps, not wonders, but much good. Would it not be possible for women to organize and talk over this domestic problem and see if a little order could not be brought out of chaos? To fix upon uniform price for definite lines of work and take into consideration the size and requirements of families." In conclusion she said: "It would be safe to say that a strong dose of the Golden Rule taken each day would help us out of many of our difficulties."The discussion of this subject brought out many points, but chief among them the thought that if more friendly relations were established between mistress and maid many difficulties would be overcome.Mrs. C. B. Gleason gave a very good paper upon "The Seamstress, Homemade vs. Ready-Made." She pictured vividly the trials attending both sides of the matter, the difficulty of securing good home dressmakers and the fatigue and nervous strain resulting from getting work done at home; and on the other hand the trial of ready-made garments and the feeling of disloyalty when one beholds herself duplicated and imitated upon the street. She expressed the hope that the work of the Consumers' League or some kindred organization may be extended to include ready-made waists and dresses, so that we may be assured that our garments as well as our underwear are produced under sanitary and well paid conditions.Mrs. Everett E. Kent treated the subject of "The Guest" in an admirable manner, emphasizing both the duties of hostess and guest and ruled some question regarding the growing custom on the part of guests to fee the servants in the household where they are visiting.The discussion of the whole subject was of much interest and all felt it had not been nearly exhausted when the time for adjournment came.

REMINISCENCES.

Lord Arebar, writing for the New York Times not long since, remarks:
"Though not 80, I am older than any railway company in the world, any gas company, any steamboat company, any cable company, any telegraph or electric light company." Now we have in our good, old city of Newton three men over 90 and quite a number approaching that age. Mr. W.
P. Tyler will reach on the 17th of February, 89, and the late Mr. Gilman was close behind. Mr. Gilman was most fond of talking over the young days, as all these men were, showing the marked change among the young as to the profuse spending of money to what they had in their school days, or in later days after leaving school, and working hard to get up in the world. These men well remember all the railroads built and the going of the stage from Springfield, Worcester, Plymouth, Lowell, Salem, Portsmouth and other places;
most of the streets of Boston paved with cobblestones; retail stores, evenings, lighted with oil and candles. The dry goods centre was Cornhill and bottom of Washington street. The stage taverns were Wilds-Patterson, Elm street; Doolittle, Brattle street. Omnibus to Dorchester, Roxbury, Charlestown and other places, 12 1/2 cent fare. The old Middlesex Canal, ending in Hay-market square; hard cordwood and hay by the load could be bought freely on the streets; you would hear often old Wilson, the city crier, with his bell, "A lost child" or a piece of "real estate for sale." The merchants and sea captains on State street, about 1 to 2 o'clock met to talk over business matters, that was the Exchange.
There you would see the strength of old Boston. Most of the present shopping district that we see today, from the Neck to State street, were homes; no business places. Summer street was most attractive; fine houses and fine trees.Now we see the great change; all stores and no homes, all brought about by steam railroads, electricity, the telegraph, telephone, the sewing machine, which has had its wonderful work, making a revolution in all work formerly done by hand. I look into the windows in any city or town in the land and see the beautiful work in shoes, clothing; none better, none even ordered to measure even surpassed what you will find today at much cheaper prices than 30 years ago."Now we see the great change; all

Attach a Tel-Electric Piano-Player To Your Piano

It may be attached to a Grand or an Upright

The Keyboard is Always Free for Hand Playing

It may be as far from the Piano as Desired

It may be placed in a different room, removed from your piano. Don't deprive yourself of seeing and hearing this wonderful invention.

It Marks a New Epoch in Piano-Player Production

The perfection of the Tel-Electric Piano-Player marks a new epoch in the production of musical devices. Its wonderful renditions, and, withal, its extreme simplicity and freedom from the many disadvantages of the pneumatic player, has brought it the unanimous approval of the music world. It is unquestionably the most important musical invention since the introduction of the old Harpsichord several centuries ago.

Operated by Electricity but Controlled by You

The Tel-Electric Piano-Player is operated by electricity, although electric current in the house is not necessary. It is perfectly controlled by easily mastered devices and, contrary to the old style pneumatic players, your feet have nothing to do. It is a player of which you will never tire because it never tires you to play it. It will also, without your assistance, produce all music exactly as indicated by the composer and cut into the music rolls.

Don't Sacrifice Your Piano—Attach a Tel-Electric Player

If you now own a piano do not sacrifice it by receiving a small allowance on the cost of a player piano, but attach a Tel-Electric Piano-Player to it. If you do not own a piano you can secure your favorite instrument from us with a Tel-Electric Piano-Player attached.

In either instance you will save money, and in both you will be buying more enjoyment.

"Compare it with the Tel-Electric before you buy."

REV. JULIAN K. SMYTH.

The Rev. Julian K. Smyth of New York city, one of the ablest and most interesting speakers of the New Church (Swedenborgian) faith, will deliver a lecture upon "Immortality, or what we can know with certainty about the spiritual world and the life there," at the church of the New Jerusalem, Highland avenue, Newtonville, on Sunday evening, Feb. 13, at 7:30 o'clock. All are cordially invited. Mr. Smyth will also speak at the same place in the morning at 10:40, on "The Passer-by," with a reference to the "Passing of the Third Floor Back," as acted by Forbes Robertson.

THEATRES

Boston Theatre—Of all the splendid spectacles staged within the past 25 years none has surpassed in beauty of pageantry, magnificence of pictorial execution or strength of dramatic force the Klaw & Erlanger production of "Ben-Hur."

"Ben-Hur" has in it everything that appeals to the ordinary theatregoer and it has as well that which takes to the playhouse the casual visitor and the churchgoer who never attends the theatre unless some religious work is being presented. It was because of these attributes, together with the special adaptability of the Boston Theatre stage for a production of the immense proportions of "Ben-Hur," that Messrs. Frohman & Harris, always anxious to please their patrons, selected it as the most appropriate Lenten attraction for that playhouse. Arrangements for the Boston engagement, which opens Monday evening, Feb. 14, were completed some months ago, and immediately thereafter extensive alterations were made upon the stage of the big playhouse, with a view to the most finished production of the drama ever given in this city.

During the limited engagement at the Boston Theatre there will be Wednesday and Saturday matinees, in addition to which a special holiday matinee is announced for Tuesday, Feb. 22 (Washington's Birthday).

Tremont Theatre—The most phenomenal dramatic success ever recorded in Boston is the popular verdict in regard to Klaw & Erlanger's production of Kate Douglas Wiggin's "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." The play is now in its sixth week and crowded and enthusiastic houses are in evidence at every performance. It is estimated that over 2000 people were turned away at the Saturday matinee and evening performances, unable to secure accommodations. The success of Rebecca on the stage is particularly gratifying as the play succeeds without resorting to theatrical tricks. It contains no suggestive lines and makes no pretensions at being a problem play. It is a simple story delightfully told and is reminiscent of something we have known in our youth.

Castle Square Theatre—The popularity of "Shore Acres" has demanded another week for that drama of New England life at the Castle Square. Not only has the play made a hit, but Mr. Craig is doing a remarkable piece of character acting as Uncle Nat Berry. He gives a strong, a vivid and a picturesque portrayal of that eccentric character that ranks it only second to the remarkable impersonation of James A. Herne that brought the play its greatest successes some seasons ago. "Shore Acres" strikes so directly home, it offers such faithful scenes of actual life in a New England fishing village on the Maine coast, it is such a clever mingling of humor and pathos, that it is no wonder the Castle Square is being filled at every performance, and that it is to be continued for a second week to equally large audiences.

Kelth's Theatre—Sensations are following each other in rapid succession at Kelth's Theatre these days, and it has become a question when the management will reach the limit. Now there is another promised in the marvellous Griffith, a Western man who has never appeared in the East, who has been brought on by Mr. Kelth as a special attraction. Griffith has been described humorously as "the man who eats figures alive" and the newspapers of the West have devoted columns and entire pages to describing his wonderful feats in mathematics.

On the same bill with him will be Jesse Lasky's big company in a new musical comedy called "The 20th Century Limited," the finish of which shows a fast train at full speed with a bridal party on board. Still another headliner will be Al Johnson, one of the most famous minstrels in the country and for years a feature of Lew Dockstader's company. Still another will be Will Macart and Ethelyn Bradford, who have one of the most amusing sketches ever written, entitled "The Holdup." Hundreds will welcome the return of Charlotte Parry, the protean actress, who made such a hit at this house last season in a sketch called "The Comstock Mystery"; and others will be Duncan's Scotch Colles; the six Samois; Burns and Fulton and the MacGregors.

PEARY LECTURE.

Under the auspices of the educational committee of the Newton Centre Playground and Social Service League, a lecture will be given by Captain Robert A. Bartlett, entitled "Account of last Peary Expedition and Discovery of the North Pole," in the Mason School hall at Newton Centre on Wednesday evening, Feb. 23, at 7:45 o'clock. Admission for adults 50 cents, and for those under 15, 25 cents.

Captain Bartlett is a very interesting speaker, having demonstrated this fact in his talks here in New England. He is the youngest of a seafaring family who have become well known as Arctic fishermen, and as commanders of various vessels bearing North Pole expeditions.

On Peary's final dash to the pole Captain Bartlett was the last white man to turn back, and therefore he has the distinction with the exception of Peary of having been nearer the pole than any white man. He is to receive from the National Geographical Society of this country and also from the Royal Society of England a silver medal, a facsimile of a gold medal to be given Peary. It is also stated on fairly good authority that Captain Bartlett is to command an expedition into the Antarctic Seas for the discovery of the South Pole, which expedition is to start sometime during the fall of this year.

The lecture in Newton Centre is to be illustrated by stereopticon pictures and the proceeds are to go towards further equipping new playgrounds for the younger children in the Thompsonville district.

A NEW GAME

On Monday Harold G. Prouty, aged 28, alias William H. Hunt, who is well known to the police in several Massachusetts and New Hampshire cities, was sentenced to six months in the house of correction for larceny of clothing from Albert J. Stedman of West Newton. He pleaded guilty. He was arrested in Hyde Park, where he had been living, and was brought here by Inspector Fletcher. He was unable to get bail. Prouty worked a game new to the police. He called at the store of Mr. Stedman Jan. 24 and said he wished to buy a suit. He selected two suits, a suitcase, shirts, collars, silk handkerchiefs, pajamas, undershorts, stockings and five pairs of gloves. He told Mr. Stedman, the latter testified, that he had just arrived here from a European trip and that he expected to settle in Newton. He showed a bank book representing a deposit of $25,000 in a Lynn bank and remarked: "That's a pretty good deposit I have." He gave his name as Hunt.

When questioned by Judge Kennedy Prouty said that he first called at the State Street Trust Company in Boston and asked for a check book. He then went to Lynn and tendered a bank check for $5000 on the State Street Trust Company, which was to open an account in the Lynn institution. "The cashier said he would notify me in a few days regarding the validity of the check. In the meantime he gave me a pass book showing a deposit of $5000. I simply placed a figure 2 before the entry, making it $25,000," Prouty said that he did this in order to establish his credit with any firm from which he wished to secure goods. He said that the plan was originated by himself. The police say that Prouty is wanted in Boston, Cambridge and nearly a half-dozen other places for larceny and forgery.

MRS. ROSS DEAD.

Mrs. Emily J. Ross, the widow of the late Henry Ross, died last Sunday night at her home on Walnut street near the Newton Cemetery, after a long period of ill health with heart trouble. Mrs. Ross was 79 years of age and had lived all her married life in this city, where her husband was for many years the superintendent of the Newton Cemetery. She was a member of the Universalist Church at Newtonville. Two daughters survive her, the Misses Lucy C. and Lida J. Ross, who resided with their mother. Funeral services were held from the house on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Albert Hammett officiating, and the burial was in Newton Cemetery.

D. A. R.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., of Newton, met at the Newton Club Monday, Feb. 14, at 8 o'clock, with Mrs. W. K. Chandler, Mrs. Edward S. Benedict, Mrs. Edward Almy, Mrs. Frank R. Moore, Mrs. William B. Herrick as hostesses.

After listening to some delightful music on the violin by Miss Julia Piggott, accompanied on the piano by Miss Van Wagenen, the regent, Mrs. Arthur P. Friend, introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Miss Blodgett. She told of the work of the Y. W. C. A. in the Travelers' Aid Society. Her half-hour talk was all too short to tell of the good accomplished in this work.

Later the delegates and alternates were chosen to go to Washington with the regent, to the continental congress, held in April. The following ladies were nominated: Mrs. A. Stuart Pratt, Mrs. Isaac F. Osgood, Mrs. Benjamin W. Hackett, Mrs. Fred M. Lowe, Mrs. George Hutchinson, Mrs. Charles S. Dennison, Mrs. Frank W. Pray, Mrs. John L. Damon, Mrs. Gardiner I. Jones, Mrs. Charles D. Meserve.

After singing two verses of America the company enjoyed the dainty refreshments and were reminded that it was St. Valentine's Day.

NEWTON MAN PROMOTED.

Mr. Howard M. Biscoe has been promoted to be assistant freight traffic manager with headquarters in the South Station to have entire charge of the freight traffic of the Boston & Albany railroad. Mr. Biscoe, who has been heretofore freight agent, is given this important raise in rank in order that the increasing freight business of the Boston & Albany railroad may be in charge of an official who will have full authority over all freight traffic matters. The merchants and business men generally sending freight over the Boston & Albany and New York Central lines will thus have a high freight traffic official to whom they can go and secure an immediate adjustment on all matters pertaining to freight on the New York Central system. Mr. Biscoe graduated in the class of 1892 from Yale. He served in various clerical positions on the Central Vermont and Boston & Albany railroads and on April 1, 1898, became foreign freight agent of the Boston & Albany railroad. He was promoted on May 1, 1905, to be general freight agent of the Boston & Albany railroad and his appointment as assistant freight traffic manager becomes effective Feb. 15. Mr. Biscoe resides on Lake avenue, Newton Highlands.

'10 WON

By a margin of 10 points, the senior class won the annual interclass athletic meet of the Newton High School last Friday evening in the school gymnasium at Newtonville. The winners got 29 points, while the juniors had 19, the sophomores 14 and the freshmen only a single point, which they won in the 1000-yard run.

As an extra feature the Newton high relay team defeated the hitherto unbeaten Boston Latin School's team in fast time. Each Newton man more than held his own against his opponent, and Newton's margin at the finish was considerable.

In the high jump second place was a tie between the juniors and sophomores, and the points were divided between these classes. The summary of the events:

A WELL KNOWN CHARACTER.

The funeral services of Richard Brooks, aged 53 years, were held at the home of his sister, Mrs. Rollins, on Clinton street, Rev. William W. Ryan and Rev. Henry E. Ormrod officiating. Mr. Carl White sang with wonderful power and feeling "Angels Ever Bright and Fair." The day following, Lincoln's Day, saw this son of Africa's release. He was of heroic mould and his strong features hinted of a greatness that yet was not powerful enough to get free from the harsh chain of circumstance. Nonantum and the North Church will cherish this great simple character that drew children and the kindly eyes of all towards him. The Christmas season will not be quite the same without Richard, feasting his eyes upon the "tree" that always bore him a picture book of the "Man of Galilee." He was buried in Newton Cemetery.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN FAVOR EXPENSIVE PARKWAY SCHEME

The meeting of the Board of Aldermen Monday evening was as interesting a session as has been held for many weeks. The proceedings lost their usual out-and-dried appearance early in the evening and there was something doing until adjournment was reached at 10 o'clock.

Formal hearings were held on petitions of Judge Marcus Morton, Highland avenue; Mrs. George S. Page, Franklin street; Mr. J. L. Damon, Putnam street, and Dr. George E. May, Commonwealth avenue, for permits to keep gasoline, and on petition of the Telephone Company for attachments on Washington street, none of which attracted any opposition.

Mr. Carl A. Sylvester, general manager for the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company, appeared in favor of the petition for permission to act as common carrier of baggage and freight in Newton. Mr. Sylvester stated that such permission had been granted them in other cities and towns; that it was in general use in other portions of the State and it would add one more means for the company to increase its legitimate revenue. Mr. S. T. Emery opposed the petition until the company had restored its service to Commonwealth avenue. Mr. Emery stated that the railroad commission was considering a petition for improvement of the car service in Newton and urged that no favors should be granted until the present service had been made satisfactory. In answer to a question as to the benefit such service would be to citizens of Newton, asked by Alderman Avery, Mr. Sylvester stated that unless the company could offer a service which the citizens would use it would be of no benefit to the company.

At the request of Alderman Gray the unfinished business of a resolve relative to securing legislation for a park and parkway between Brookline and Watertown was advanced on the calendar and ex-Representative Elias B. Bishop invited to speak on the matter. Mr. Bishop showed a large plan which indicated the proposed park and parkway, stating that the park proper would be between Beacon street and the Brookline line with a parkway thru the Edmonds and Colby estates, Cabot Park, Jackson road and Boyd Park to Watertown. He related the history of the movement for the past few years and called attention to the fact that there was no connection between the Metropolitan Park areas south of Boston with those north of that city. It is, therefore, he said, not a project simply for Newton or Brookline or Watertown, but for the entire metropolitan district. The proposed parkway would become a beautiful drive for automobiles, with trees and shrubs instead of closely built up streets and districts. He would have been pleased to see the parkway widened thru the Edmonds and Colby estates, but the expense must be considered. He spoke very strongly for preserving the beauties of Hammonds woods and quoted the late T. J. Gargan as saying that the improvement would be a splendid investment for Boston. There are only a few barns and houses now in the territory to be taken, valued at about $7000, while the entire assessed valuation of the land is $272,000. He quoted the recommendation of the Metropolitan Improvement Commission and characterized it as a fair judgment passed by a competent court. The bill, he said, merely provides for the present acquisition of the land as the petitioners realize that the district is in no financial condition to undertake development for several years. The cost to Newton will vary with the action of the Legislature in laying this out as a parkway or boulevard. As a parkway matter it will probably cost Newton some $8567 each year for redemption of bonds, with charges of about $350 each for interest and sinking fund. As a boulevard proposition it would cost about $41,000 annually for bonds and $1800 each for interest and sinking funds. Construction would probably cost about $10,000 per mile of roadway averaging from 16 to 23 feet in width.

Alderman Stone opposed the passage of the resolve, saying that while the plan was good, his objection was based solely on the cost to the city and the district. He particularly objected to the expense of the connecting link, and said he would heartily favor the taking of the Hammonds woods for park purposes. Mr. Stone believed that this matter should not be pushed because we needed other things more—such as the cleaning up of the Charles river and because of the considerable expenses entailed on the city. Newton's share of the land damage would be $10,000, the roadway thru Newton of two and one-half miles, 40 feet in width, would cost $50,000 without drainage, and a new railroad bridge would be necessary, costing $20,000, on all of which Newton would pay $10,000 with $350 for interest and $360 for sinking fund yearly. In addition Mr. Stone figured a loss in valuation for land taken of $113,000 or $2041 yearly in taxes. On these facts he argued that the matter ought to be carefully considered before the city committed itself and believed that the assumed advantage of this connecting link had been greatly over-estimated.

Alderman Gray said that this matter had been carefully considered by the various Improvement Associations in the city, that last year's board had endorsed the project and that it was of great interest to a part of our city which paid large taxes and received but little in return—Chestnut Hill. It had been favored by Brookline and Watertown, and Newton would be taking a backward step, possibly killing the whole matter if it refused its approval now.

Alderman Moore believed that the present was the time to pass this resolution and called attention to the fact that some of the beauties of the proposed area were even now being destroyed.

The resolution was then adopted by a standing vote, Aldermen Doherty, Moore, Lyons, Gray, Sullivan, Chadbourne, Towle, Woods and Burr voting in favor, Aldermen Miller, Stone, Blenkmore, Cox, Barker and Higgins voting against.

Mayor Hatfield's pointless veto of the transfer to 96 Pine street of the junk house of L. Gresson was then taken up. The Mayor returned the matter because he had discovered that a bank of which he was president was interested in the premises, 96 Pine street, and he believed the board should know that fact. Alderman Underwood related the history of the Gresson case, which has been pending for over six months, and urged its passage notwithstanding the veto of the Mayor, whom he stated was not opposed to such action by the board. Alderman Lyons also spoke principally on the point that the city authorities had neglected to improve Pine street and also stated that he had no objection to the passage over the Mayor's veto. The transfer was then authorized over the Mayor's veto by a vote of 16 to 2. Aldermen Avery and Cox voting no, and Aldermen Lyons being excused.

Mayor Hatfield sent in a communication calling attention to proposed legislation to annex a portion of Newton to the city of Boston and asking for a committee to consider the matter with him. The president was authorized to appoint a committee of two to serve with the chair on the matter.

The appointments of Walter B. Randlett as forest warden and of Henry H. Fanning as registrar of voters for three years were confirmed unanimously.

The city engineer submitted a long list of streets for street numbering purposes. The forest commissioner asked for permission to remove a number of dangerous trees and the Board of Health desired a sewer in Monroe street, all of which were referred.

The proclamation of Gov. Draper for Lincoln Day and notice of appointment of railway police by the selectmen of Framingham were placed on file. Notice of hearing April 5 by Supreme Court on appointment of a commission to determine payments by cities and towns for metropolitan park expenses was referred. Petitions of L. W. Page and Henry L. Williams for minors licenses and of Bernard W. Riley for an auctioneer license were granted. Petitions of Nicholas Veduccio for a wagon license and permit to transport liquor, of C. B. Wilbur et al. to extend provisions of snow from sidewalk ordinance to portions of Newton Centre, of L. C. Bourne et al. for laying out of Woodbine terrace, and of Burnett et al. for sewers in Neholden and Crofton roads were referred. Hearings were ordered for March 7 on petitions of the Telephone Company for pole locations on Belmont street, and of the Edison Company for poles on Gibbs street, Duncliee street, Farlow road, Ruthen road, for relocations on Hammond street and Waverley avenue, for attachments on Beacon and Kaposia streets.

On recommendation of committees, leave to withdraw was granted on Tremont Theatre—Notwithstanding the phenomenal success of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," it will only be seen here for two more weeks at the Tremont Theatre in Boston. The last performance will be given March 5. This will be the last opportunity that New England theatregoers will have to witness this play for several years. The success of the play is a matter of gratification not only to the author and the managers, but to the theatre-goers of the country, as it has demonstrated that the public appreciates clean and wholesome drama when adequately presented. The play of Rebecca makes an ideal Lenten entertainment, as although it preaches no sermon, it is a reminder of some things good in all our lives and one leaves the theatre feeling better from having witnessed it.

Schubert Theatre—It is a jolly aggregation of merry-makers, singing favorites, models of beauty and grace, exponents of all sorts of topical, choral art that keeps the audiences enthusiastically amused with "The Midnight Song" at the Schubert Theatre. Lew Fields evidently believes not only overpowering all possible opposition from his audiences with numbers—there are 250 people in some of the scenes—but he makes a feature of the quality of his big company as well.

"The Midnight Song" starts on its third week next Monday night, Feb. 21. It is the regular thing now for the house to be completely sold out at every performance. This musical play—the only one in Boston, by the way, will not be seen elsewhere in New England.

There will be an extra matinee performance Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22.

UNITARIAN CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Unitarian Club was held last evening in the parlors of Channing Church. The reception from 6:15 to 6:30 was followed by dinner in the banquet hall. At 8 o'clock in the parlors the topic "Agriculture and Country Life in New England" was considered. Dr. George M. Twitcheell of Auburn, Me., was unable to be present owing to illness and Mr. George H. Ellis was the first speaker. Mr. Ellis is a member of the board of trustees of the Massachusetts Agricultural College and chairman of the committee on agriculture of the Boston Chamber of Commerce. He spoke of farm conditions 50 years ago when there were few implements to work with and very little machinery, which was an incentive for young men to go West where there were larger opportunities and where work was carried on on a larger scale. He also spoke, at some length, of the improved conditions, and the better understanding of farm work by the farmer and stated that with the large variety of soils New England should take care of herself. The other speaker was President Kenyon L. Butterfield of the Massachusetts Agricultural College and a member of President Roosevelt's Country Life Commission, who spoke on "Ideals of Country Life and How to Attain Them." He divided his address into three parts or ideals which should be developed in rural districts. The first was to put agricultural business on a thoroughly modern basis, to enlarge rural life and make it more profitable by paying more attention to the disposal of crops. Forty million people live under rural conditions and the second ideal was to place life under a higher standard of personal growth and culture, to get the best out of it that was possible, not alone for material profit but for its ideal side. There is a call to college men to go to the country, the love of freedom of outdoor life and claims of James W. Clark on account of personal injuries to daughter, of Ruth Crandell for personal injuries, of E. O. Ashford for Mary Bryson for personal injuries, of McManus & Sawyer for F. M. Thomas, injuries in auto accident, of W. F. Bacon for Thomas Quinn, damages to house by fire, of H. S. Howland for personal injuries, of E. W. Pingree for rebate of taxes, for sewers in Francis street, in Cliff street, in Daily terrace, in Harrington street, and on position of Sarah Campbell for common victualer license. Inexpedient was voted on request of Board of Health for sewer in Francis street, and no action necessary on claim of Patrick Moran. Orders were passed for settlement of claims of William Sweeney for $70, of Thomas Kelley for $35, making grant of $35,275 for city expenses to March 15, increasing soldiers' relief of Mrs. Edith A. Davis and granting soldiers' relief to Charles W. Coleman, authorizing Forestry, Charley, Library, Board of Aldermen and city clerk's appropriations to be credited with receipts, authorizing sewer construction in Washington street, Woodward street, Boylston street, appropriating $15,032 for additional equipment for Technical High School and $850 for certain construction in the Technical High School and granting Telephone Company attachments on Norwood avenue.

On favorable recommendation of committees, the police ordinance was changed so as to provide for four sergeants of police, the rules of the board changed so as to hold regular meetings on the first and third Mondays of each month, a common victualer license granted F. W. Sweatt, and a wagon license to John A. Torrance. Reports were received for sewer construction in Oak terrace and Floral street and accepting the invitation of the Edison Company to visit its plant in Boston. Alderman Underwood being appointed a committee to arrange details. The board also endorsed the action of the Civic Federation of Newton in favoring the electrification of the steam railroads entering Boston.

Alderman Heard opposed the adoption of an order favoring legislation to reduce the membership of the school committee to seven, stating that there had been a disrespect to this board in the presentation of a bill to the Legislature on this matter and the appearance of the city solicitor in favor of the same, prior to the action of the Board of Aldermen. He also opposed the plan, stating that it was one of the facts now floating about the country, and while it might be an improvement to other cities, Newton had always been fortunate in securing the services of 14 prominent men and women to serve on its school committee.

Alderman Avery stated that the committee had carefully considered the matter and while personally he was opposed to the reduction it had been almost unanimously favored by the school committee itself. The bill had been put into the Legislature in order to be within the time limit established by that body.

Alderman Gray said that he did not believe the bill had been put into the Legislature as a slight on this board and President Jones stated that it was customary to file bills in this way.

The order was then adopted, Alderman Heard and Barker voting in opposition. Alderman Burr called attention to the rule that every member should vote unless excused and another vote added Alderman Lyons to the opposition, 15 voting in favor. This action aroused Alderman Cox, who called attention to the previous vote on the parkway resolution and he asked that this vote might be taken again. The president ruled that it was too late to invoke this rule on that vote and also ruled out a motion to reconsider made by Alderman Cox as that gentleman had voted with the minority. An appeal by Alderman Cox to the majority to call for a reconsideration of the parkway vote was unheeded, although Mr. Cox stated that he thought it due to the board to cast a full vote on such an important measure.

Orders revoking a common victualer license held by Mrs. Carrie M. Gordon, and amending the rules of the board relative to methods of procedure in making grants for city expenses were adopted. An order that the forest commissioner be authorized to perform work on private estates and making an advance of $2000 for such work was referred to the city solicitor for opinion, and at 10 o'clock the board adjourned.

BREAKFAST CLOUDS WITH SILVER SPOONS AND SILVER LINING.

Oftentimes we become overcast, troubled over the regulation breakfast. Looks tempting enough, but the old adage, "Appearances are often deceiving," is verified, say, in a bit of tenderness that is anything but tender. Then the butter sometimes takes on a woody flavor, when the palate is not in a mood for bitterns. As you have about reached the boiling point, of wishing the cook a pleasant sojourn, to say, "Chill, you get a whiff from the Orient. Lake an oasis to the traveler, the senses take in with genuine delight, a realistic Paradise Garden, scene. Here is aroma, flavor, substance and what not, which has for its end perfection. You feel at peace with the world and—yourself. As you toy with your silver spoon and sip the almost forgotten cup of anticipation, you forget the tough-end and bitterness, for contentment has possessed you. You pass your cup, with your sweetest smile, "More WHITE HOUSE coffee, please?"—Table Chats.

It is a little early for spring renovations, still, not very. But meantime, haven't you some old furniture you would like to use if you could?

There are very few old things that won't pay to repair. If what you have really isn't worth renovating it is just as much a part of our business to tell you so, as it is to repair it if it IS worth while. We do not consider our time in calling on you lost, even if it does not result in business.

On that basis, and with a definite promise from us of the best work and the right prices, will you give us a chance to see you?

The importance of the petition to annex a portion of this city to Boston in order that Boston College might be justified in fact as well as in name, called forth a communication from Mayor Haffield and the appointment of a committee to consider the matter. I have heretofore pointed out that the loss of the taxable property in this district, outside of the college property, which is exempt by law, will cause a substantial loss in taxes each year, and that the loss of the water service would also be considerable.
The only effect in the bill is that the care and maintenance of a few yards of street surface is transferred to Boston. The Boston Globe states that the matter has no opposition, but I believe this city will strongly oppose the petition when it is heard at the State House.

The Board of Aldermen took sound action in referring to the city solicitor the order authorizing the forestry department to perform work on private estates. While there is much merit in the proposition, it opens the way for the city to enter into competition with private business in many directions. If the forestry commissioner drains trees and shrubs on private estates, why shouldn't the street commissioner allow the city blacksmith to shoe horses for any citizen, and why shouldn't the inspector of streets be authorized to place electric systems in private dwellings? The principle is wholly socialistic and I trust it will be given the most careful consideration even if it is found to be perfectly legal.

Alderman Stone deserves commendation for his position on Monday evening opposing any action favoring a park and parkway project which, if adopted by the Legislature, would add so much to the metropolitan park debt. His reasoning was logical and sound and it is a pity that the city is placed in the position of favoring such an expensive and only half meritorious scheme.

Mayor Haffield's veto of an insignificant junk license is chiefly remarkable for the theory on which it is based. The reason advanced for withholding executive approval is new to this city and absolutely foreign to Newton's standards.

Newton Highlands is making a laudable effort to obtain a public playground without expense to the city in the same manner as West Newton.

Women's Clubs

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt

As was stated last week, preparations are well under way for the Tenth Biennial of the General Federation. The arrangements for the transportation of the Massachusetts delegation have been put, as heretofore, in the hands of Raymond & Whitcomb, which will insure comfort all along the way. The majority of the Cincinnati hotels are on the European plan, but a rough estimate of the expense of the trip, including meals and everything in the vicinity of $100. The impetus gained from the Ninth Biennial in Boston should lead many Massachusetts women to attend the Tenth, where they may enjoy all to the full without the weight of responsibility upon them.

The committee on legislative affairs will hold a conference at the New England Women's Club rooms, Cham-bery Hall building, Boston, on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 19, at 2:30. Representation from all the clubs is desired.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday, Feb. 23, Mrs. Francis B. Hornbroke will give a lecture on "Margaret Fuller." Members may invite guests.

Mrs. May Alden Ward's Current Events lecture under the auspices of the Newtonville Woman's Guild will be given on Feb. 24 at 10:45.

The attention of the clubs is called to the meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Club to be held in Newtonville on March 3. Lecture on "Forestry and Conservation" by Mrs. F. H. Tucker. This meeting will be open to the public.

Miss Howard's cooking lecture on Saturday morning at the Technical High School will be upon "Breakfast Dainties."

INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE.

A conference of the committee on industrial conditions of women and children, which is a joint committee with the State Federation and the Women's Educational and Industrial Union, was held at Perkins Hall, Boston, on Thursday afternoon of last week. Mrs. Mary Morton Kehew, president of the union, was in the chair as chairman of the committee.
Richard K. Conant, secretary of the Massachusetts child labor committee, presented the organization of this committee something over a year ago and of what it has been doing since then. He said that people in general had thought of child labor in Massachusetts much as of the question of "enaves in Ireland," that wasn't any.
Investigation has shown that this is far from true, and in reality there are many serious problems; also that Massachusetts lags behind other states in the matter of laws for its regulation. He then went on to discuss and explain the six child labor bills now before the Legislature.

John Graham Brooks, president of the National Consumers' League, took for his topic, "New Phases in the Work of the Consumers' League." He reviewed the history of the work of the league and pointed out how its principles are gradually being accepted and that manufacturers are beginning to see that it is to their advantage to adopt them, until now even the label has been imitated. In referring to the part women are playing in these matters he said that it was the disinterested sympathy of the women that saved the Juvenile Court to Denver. Women are not blinded by the money motive as men are.

The theory of "no interference" on the part of the consumer has been broken down during the past 10 years.
Formerly great corporations held that the public had no right to interfere, but the directors are gradually beginning to realize that the public must be reckoned with; that their corporations must be run under the advantage of the community. The consumer has already come to his right in the matter of insurance. He cited an instance in the manufacture of chocolate, how in an island belonging to Portugal large quantities of it are produced under frightful conditions of slavery. These facts have been called to the attention of firms manufacturing chocolate and several important ones have promised to take measures to avoid buying slave trade chocolate and to get legislation in Portugal to stop it, that the standard of production may be raised to a human and decent one. In closing he said that it is quite inexcusable for any woman not to belong to the consumers' League and that the 20th century is the century of the consumer.

Miss Davida French, director of the committee on savings bank insurance at the union, told of the success of the work and of some of the methods being adopted to spread the movement, which is in reality one for the encouragement of thrift among wage-earners. They are at present educating the settlement workers in its advantages, hoping in this way to spread the work among the people in their districts.

Miss Edith G. Reeves, who for two years has held the fellowship supported by the Federation for research in industrial conditions, gave an interesting account of her work. She told of the bill which will be presented at the State House, asking for the appointment of a committee to investigate the system of factory inspection in the hope of securing a well-organized system of administration.

ing the laws. The speaker pointed out that there are now about 60 inspectors who enter workshops and factories. The purpose of all this work is to better the conditions of women and children, to safeguard their present rights and strive for better legislation in their behalf.

By the courtesy of the union tea was served and a brief social time followed the conference.

On Monday afternoon the members of the Monday Club of Newton Highlands proffered hospitality to many of the neighboring clubs of the Federation at Odd Fellows' Hall. The guests were presented with a dainty valentine as they entered. Mrs. Hiram A. Miller, president of the club, in her greeting referred to its being Valentine's Day and gracefully traced the evolution of the valentine idea in the mind of each.

The program of the afternoon consisted of orchestral music by the Euterpean Trio, violin, cello and piano, of Chelsea, and readings by Mrs. Papazian, who gave with good effect Mary Wilkins Freeman's "Silence" and Tolstoy's story of "The Two Old Men." Delicious refreshments were served during the social hour. The tables were decorated with jougous and yellow candles and the same color was carried out in the frappe and candies.

The next meeting will be with Mrs.
Robbins of Dickerman road.

The parlors of the New Church were filled to overflowing at the meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Guild on Tuesday afternoon, the occasion being a "home" meeting. The paper entitled "A Visit to Japan," prepared by Mrs. W. H. Allen and Mrs. J. L. Richards on their recent visit to that country, was read by Mrs.
Allen. It was illustrated by some 80 lantern slides, many of them being made from photographs which they had taken themselves. A unique feature of the entertainment was the Japanese tea served by the industrial committee, Mrs. A. E. Voss, chairman. The tea room was adorned with cherry blossoms and other Japanese decorations and some of the table articles had been brought home from Japan by these same ladies.

The hospital committee of the club were enabled to purchase a large sterilizer and other articles needed in the operating room of the hospital from the proceeds of the Beatrice Herford entertainment, together with the usual club appropriation.

On Wednesday morning the Social Science Club completed its course of study with an admirable paper upon
"The Competitors of the Home; the College, the Church, the Club," by Mrs. George Angier. In speaking of the child's place in the home, she said that here he is valued for what he is, while in school he is for what he will be. She urged the necessity of exacting from him certain responsibilities and obedience. We are setting a high standard for our children and this necessitates the raising our own standards in the home.

In turning to the various so-called competitors, Mrs. Angier felt they are not such, but normally are merely complementary. She dwelt upon the value of the college training and the fact that the girls, in particular, are feeling the need of it, and quoted from President Woolley of Mt. Holyoke, who values it as the preparation for effective service. The speaker placed it as a power against the establishment in this country of an aristocracy of wealth.

Of the church she felt that it is in no sense a rival, but in both we are working zealously for the same things. There should be unity of purpose and of activities, but not necessarily a unity of opinion. Women have ever done the work of the church, and as it represents its spiritual side, it should receive the first place.

In speaking of the club she quoted two very widely differing opinions in regard to the woman's club—a foreigner who calls it the most American thing in America and the words of Edward Bellamy of Philadelphia, who, while granting certain beneficent results from some clubs, scores them severely for the things which they have not done. As a specific suggestion to her own club, Mrs. Angier urged the working for a saner celebration of the Independence Day right here in Newton and pointed out the good opportunity for a pageant commemorating the preaching of John Eliot to the Indians as a subject of great interest to boys in particular.

The paper was full of suggestion and was listened to with great interest, which was evidenced by the discussion that followed.

On Friday last the West Newton Women's Educational Club and their guests listened to the Rev. Robert Van Kirk in a very impressive, dramatic rendering of Robert Browning's poem "A Blot on the 'Scutcheon'."
This was preceded by an excellent musical program for violin, voice and piano. Tea was served.

The next meeting of the Newton Centre Women's Club will be on Thursday, Feb. 24, when Miss Heloise
B. Hersey will lecture on "Tenny-son, the Poet of the Twentieth Century." The lecture will be followed by a social and tea.

Mr. Frederic A. O'Connor, who has served the past two years as assistant assessor in Ward 5, has sent in his resignation to City Clerk Kingsbury. He resigns because of pressure of other business.

ORGAN RECITAL.

At Eliot Church last evening an organ recital was given by Mr. Wil-

VALENTINE PARTY.

The Embroidery Club held an enjoyable valentine party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Allen, Pembroke and Nonantum streets, on Monday evening, which had many novel and amusing features. Valentines were exchanged by all, and many of these aroused much merriment. One of the features was a shower tendered Miss Elta G. Harrington, whose engagement was recently announced. She was called before the gathering and presented a large basket of useful articles, being taken entirely by surprise. There followed music and a Dutch supper, the dining table being attractively decorated with pink and ferns. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Harrington, Miss Charlotte Adams, Mrs. L. E. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dale, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas West, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cotton, Webster Anders, Miss Elta G. Harrington, Miss Marguerite C. The Laurel Company are making an offer of two standard sets of books in our columns today that pretty clearly indicate the character of some of the bargains that their inventory sale is putting in the way of book lovers. Anyone wanting either a good library edition of Shakespeare or a set of Motley's famous histories will do well to take advantage of this special chance.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The meeting next Sunday afternoon will be especially interesting, as Mr. Thomas Edgar, the prison evangelist, will speak. His subject will be "Gates of Brass and Bars of Iron." Rev. A. Z. Conrad, D. D., of Boston, says: "In Brooklyn and twice in Worcester I have welcomed him to my church, and his words have been with power. I wish he might be heard at least once in every pulpit in New England." The late Rev. David Moore, D. D., of Geneva, N. Y., wrote: "His lectures have been a revelation to me, as indeed they have been to many others." This meeting will be for men and women and should bring out a large attendance. The regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary will be held Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 23, in the association parlors. Rev. Harrie L.

Chamberlin, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church, will be the speaker. There will be much interest in the game of Feb. 23, as Mr. LaRose, formerly physical director at the local association, is coming over with his Melrose team. The Boston Y. M. C. A. second will play the third game with the local second team on that night.

The athletic team continues to win having defeated the strong Somerville Y. M. C. A. athletic team in the local gymnasium, Thursday, by the score of 32 to 18. Jack Cody was easily the star, winning first place in the running high jump, the shotput and the running broad jump, defeating the crack Somerville broad jumper, Spaulding, by one-half inch. John Hines again demonstrated that he is a great runner, defeating Marber of Somerville in the fastest 300-yard race of the evening, breaking the association record, his time being 36.4-5s. This will not stand as a record as only one watch took the time.

FIRE MARINE PLATE GLASS BURGLARY ACCIDENT LIFE

THEATRES

Boston Theatre—Klaw & Erlanger's new and greater presentation of "Ben-Hur," which inaugurated a limited engagement at the big Boston Theatre on Monday evening, scored a triumph unprecedented in the amusement annals of Boston theatrically. Thirty-five hundred persons crowded New England's historic playhouse to its utmost capacity while several thousands who clamored for admission had to be turned away. It was a glorious night for the big Boston Theatre and one that will live forever in the memory of those who participated. As arranged on the vast stage of the Boston Theatre, "Ben-Hur" is a dozen entertainments rolled into one.

It appeals not only to regular theatregoers but to all classes of men and women—those of the church and those who are not—for it has all the qualities that call the religiously inclined as well as all the dramatic fire and romance which attract the world.

Pageantry and pomp there are for the lovers of those things; religious fervor and reverence for holy things for the church-goer; excitement and adventure, romance and lovers, for the regular patron of the theatre; and combining all these into one harmonious whole is the story of "Ben-Hur's" devotion to the cause of righteousness, his love of truth and honor, and his manly fight to maintain his position before the world.

The regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given, in addition to which there will be a special holiday matinee on Tuesday Feb. 22 (Washington's Birthday).

American Music Hall—A glance over the list of attractions at the American Music Hall this week will convince any theatregoer that every act is of the headline variety. There is not a single filler or weak number in the whole bill. To begin with next week will mark the first appearance in Boston of the wonderful English singing comedian, George Lashwood, the greatest European importation since Lauder. While his style is different from the great Scotch comedian, yet there is a wonderful similarity between them. Another headline act is that of Sidney Drew and company in the screaming farce, "When Two Hearts are Won." Fred Niblo has again deserted the lecture platform for vaudeville and will be seen in his new travelogue, "Through Africa." Mr. Niblo's entertainment is well worth the price of admission to any show for it is not only humorous throughout but it is highly instructive. For quiet, subtle humor McMahon and Chapelle are in a class by themselves. After taking European cities by storm they come back to Boston with their laughing skit,

"Twenty Minutes Before Train Time." Some more of the acts on this all-star bill are Daly's Country Choir, a mixed quartet of rural singers who never fail to make good; Paul's Juggling Girls, who owing to their success of last week have been held over for another week; Edith Leroy, a dainty English singing comedienne, and others.

Kelth's Theatre—The season at Kelth's is proving one of the most remarkable in the history of that vaudeville theatre, and all Boston is attending the shows. For five weeks late Fuller's Ballet of Light has been the attraction that has never been equalled in vaudeville and next week the bill will contain a host of new features of equal importance. Nat Willis, the tramp comedian, comes with an entirely new line of talk, stories that have been setting New York by the ears. Another big feature will be furnished by George V. Hobart's sketch, entitled "Dankelspiel's Christmas." Dankelspiel is an old, wholesome German, with a fund of wit and a song, who is thoroughly Americanized, and a mother who is unable to understand it. A sensational feature will be the famous Saxon Trio, who claim to hold the world's record in new feats of strength. Another feature will be the Howard brothers, banjoists, who do all sorts of amusing stunts with these instruments. Other features will be the Italian Trio, three of the best singers that have ever come from Italy; the Bowman brothers, black-face comedians; Watson and Little in their dancing specialty, and features yet to be announced.

Castle Square Theatre—The coming week of "Shore Acres" at the Castle Square will be the third and last of the highly successful run of that popular drama of life way down east. Crowded houses have witnessed its scenes of rustic humor and emotion and large audiences have laughed over the peculiarities of the Yankee characters, and have shown their sympathy with Uncle Nat in his struggle with his brother over the old family homestead that the one wants to retain and the other wants to sell. Not a little of the success of the production is due to Mr. Craig's acting of Uncle Nat, which is wholesome in its simplicity and faithful in its delineation of the Yankee character. It is an achievement of which Mr. Craig may well be proud.

NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

When a few staunch, honest citizens of Boston associated themselves together in the formation of a life insurance company in the early forties, to be known as the New England Mutual Life, their most rosy dreams could never have approached the possibilities involved in the simple principle of mutual provision against the contingency of a death for the protection of their dear ones; had no conception of what would actually be accomplished within a century, nor had they any reason to suppose that life insurance would come to be one of the most important institutions of the country, representing in its accumulations vast sums unmeasurable by any comparisons existing in that day. But they did their part well towards making life insurance what it is today, and the business owes everything it is to the foundation laid by the earlier pioneers.

The 66th annual statement shows that payments to policy holders or their beneficiaries during 1909 aggregated $4,710,055, an increase of $65,787. The income over all disbursements was $2,938,086, or $305,558 better than in 1908. New paid for business increased over $5,000,000 as compared with 1908, the amount issued during 1909 being $23,427,325. The total amount of insurance in force on Dec. 31 last was $197,492,772, an increase of $12,578,914 for the year. The average policy at the end of last year was $2622, or $186 greater than the year before. During 1909 the actual mortality was but 57 per cent of the expected, while in 1908 it was 64 per cent.

The officers, agents and policy holders are to be congratulated on this fine array of gains and evidences of growth.

SCHOOL ATHLETICS

NEWTON HIGH WINS TRIANGULAR MEET

A new high jump record and the equalling of the 30-yard low hurdle mark were the feats that especially marked the fifth annual indoor track meeting of the Preparatory school athletic league in the Newton high gymnasium last Friday evening. The meet was won by Newton high school scoring 38 points. Brookline high was second with 24 and Cambridge Latin scored one lone point.

Alfred D. Chandler, captain of the Brookline track team, broke the league record in the running high jump, which was held by himself, bettering his old mark by two inches. The old figures of 5 feet 6 1/2 inches were made a year ago.

Captain William Clancy of the Newton high team equaled Robert S. Porter's record of 41.5 seconds in the final heat of the 30-yard hurdles.

The meet was one of the most exciting ever held by the league, and the Newton high gymnasium was filled by the followers of the three teams.

When Brookline high captured all three places in the running high jump, Newton's hopes fell somewhat, but when the next event, the shotput, was ended the Newton followers were given a chance to cheer, for all three places went to the home athletes.

That the meet went off without the slightest hitch was largely due to the work of Captain Clarence C. Little of the Harvard track team and Manager Leon Little of the Harvard team, who respectively acted as referee and clerk of the course.

Wallace Taylor of Brookline high school was the highest point scorer of the meet, getting first in the 300-yard run, third in the 600-yard run, second in the 30-yard dash and third in the 30-yard hurdles. His all-around work was a feature of the meet and without him Brookline would have been badly beaten.

Seth Woods of Newton high, winner of the 30-yard dash and who finished third in the shotput, carried off the honors for his school.

In the final heat of the 30-yard dash Seth Woods of Newton high got the first place on the other two sprinters and flashed over the tape a winner.

In the 300-yard low hurdles Captain William Clancy of Newton high was pitted to win, and win he did. Kenneth Farnham, a teammate, was second, and Taylor captured third place for Brookline.

The favorite in the 600-yard run was William Adams, but because of a false start he was set back, and first place was won by Wallace Taylor of Brookline high. James Gallagher of Newton finished second and Adams third.

The 600-yard run developed into an interesting race between Stuart Rider of Newton and Orville Forte of the same school. Rider won by a few yards over Forte, and Wyman was third.

The most sensational race of the meet was the 1000-yard run, which was expected to go to Henry McClure of Newton high. He led the field for six laps, then out from the bunch sprung Eric Stone of Brookline high and passed him. Stone kept his lead and won by less than three yards. Blackman of Cambridge Latin secured the only point made by his school by finishing third.

Lloyd Marshall captured first place in the shotput.

Brookline took all three places in the running high jump, Captain Chandler being first with 5 feet 8 1/2 inches.

The relay race was between Newton and Brookline high teams, Cambridge Latin not running. It proved an easy victory for Newton after McClure, the third runner, went out and overhauled Johnson of Brookline and opened up a large gap for Captain Clancy, who ran last for Newton. The summary:

POP CONCERT

Palestine Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, held a most enjoyable pop concert last Monday evening in Temple Hall, Newtonville. The decorations were in honor of the holiday and were most attractive. The beautiful electric star, the emblem of the order, blazed from the wall above the stage, and flags, palms and blossoming plants were much in evidence. The 50 tables were covered with white with broad bands of the national colors, some with blue, some with red and some with stars, while the larger tables were decorated with cherries and hothouses. Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Carter represented George and Martha Washington and were in full colonial costume. They were assisted by the Misses Ruth Chapin, Hattie Frost, Frieda M. and Louise Gerhardt, and Elvira and Edith Ward, wearing dainty colonial dresses and with powdered hair. The waiters were members of the chapter, Mr. A. Sidney Bryant, chairman, and Messrs. Charles F. Ward, A. E. Billings, H. A. Hanson, H. Wilson Ross, L. A. Sprague, W. W. Carter, Fred A. Ward, Frank W. McAleer, W. H. Bliss, C. D. Burroughs, Dr. C. E. A. Ross and Dr. C. A. Boutele. They wore immense white aprons over their evening dress. Sandwiches, ice cream and cake and light drinks were served while the concert was being given and dancing followed until 11 o'clock. The hall was crowded throughout the evening and the affair was highly creditable to the order. The chairman of the various committees were Mr. Ludwig Gerhard, finance; Mr. H. Wilson Ross, concert; Mr. Thomas W. White, dance; Mrs. Jenny L. Clark, refreshments; Mrs. Ekta M. Whitney, candy table, and Mr. George G. Davidson, tickets.

The officers of the order are Mrs. Ekta M. Whitney, W. M.; Mrs. Laura M. Wingate, secretary; Mrs. Mary E. Bryant, treasurer, and Mr. Ludwig Gerhard, W. P.

A happy affair took place at the rooms of the Nicholson sisters, "The Wild," 300 Centre street, Newton, on Wednesday evening, when Mrs. Elizabeth MacArthur was married to Mr. Herbert L. Brayton of Alburgh, Vt., by Rev. H. Grant Person of Newton. The rooms were handsomely decorated and a cheerful company saw the departure of the newly wedded couple. Mr. and Mrs. Brayton will reside in northern Vermont, near the waters of picturesque Champlain.

Among those present were Mr. Walter MacArthur, son of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Milan A. Brayton and Byron Brayton of Fall River, Mr. and Mrs. Warren H. Brayton of Roslindale, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Black, Charles H. Black and W. Russell Black of Newton, Mrs. J. W. Briggs of Haverhill, Miss Florence Nicholson, Miss Katherine Nicholson, Miss Margaret Nicholson, Mrs. Leitch.

C. E. DINNER UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The annual banquet and business meeting of the Newton Christian Endeavor Union was held Monday evening in the vestry of the Immanuel Baptist Church, Newton. After the hymn "God Be With You" and prayer by Rev. Walter Healy of Newton Upper Falls nearly 200 Christian Endeavors sat down to a very dainty repast prepared by the society of the entertaining church.

The singing of "America" opened the business meeting. Reports were read by the treasurer, secretary, president and chairman of the lookout, public meeting, social and missionary committees.

Brief addresses were given by the Rev. Harrie Chamberlin, pastor of the Immanuel Church, Newton; Rev. Burke F. Leavitt, counselor of the Union, and Rev. Mr. Beals, the district secretary.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Kimball Johnson, Waltham Congregational; vice-president, Theodore Morton, Newton Baptist; recording secretary, Martha Freeman, Waltham Congregational; corresponding secretary, Blanche M. Noyes, Auburndale Congregational; treasurer, Nettie Dolbler, Newton Baptist; counselor, Rev. Burke F. Leavitt, Belmont Congregational.

Mr. Sayford, the speaker of the evening, gave a very stirring talk on the subject, "Prayer and Personal Work as the Warp and Woof of Christian Life."

The retiring president, Mr. Lowry, introduced the new president, Mr. Johnson, to the Union.

After singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" Mr. Chamberlin pronounced the benediction.

After having been pending several weeks, the case of John Muse, a Nonantum expressman living at 36 Green street, who was charged with illegal sale of liquor and with keeping improper books was settled in court Wednesday by payment of a $50 fine on one charge and the continuance of the other till June 4.

James F. Bryson, having no home, whom Patrolman Cody arrested at Commonwealth avenue and Walnut street Monday night, after a lively tussle and a chase through a swamp, was in court Wednesday charged with breaking entering and larceny of hens from the premises of H. Wilson Ross, superintendent of Newton Cemetery. Probable cause was found and he was held in $1000 for the grand jury.

Four hens and five heads which Bryson had in a bag when captured were shown in court and Mr. Ross identified one as a particularly valuable fowl. By the arrest of Bryson the police believe they have cleared up numerous henyard raids in Newtonville and Newton Centre during the last few months.

CHURCH DEBT PAID.

In a campaign of less than a fortnight the parishioners of St. John's Episcopal Church of Newtonville have had over-subscribed by $1000 a fund to wipe out the indebtedness of the church.

When a systematic canvass for funds was started in Newtonville less than two weeks ago among friends of the parish it was desired to raise $9500 to wipe out the debt which the parish had carried ever since the church was built.

The canvass was in charge of the canvassers Messrs. Frank T. Benner, Charles F. Avery, Charles W. Leonard, Judge Marcus Morton, Enoch C. Adams, Edward P. Hatch, Edgar S. Buffum and Willard C. Warren. The subscriptions were received upon agreement that they were to be collected only in case the desired amount was pledged. Instead of $9500, the canvass resulted in subscriptions of $10,500. The parish was formed in 1897 and its attractive stone church is situated at Lowell avenue and Old street.

That the public is interested in legislation is growing more and more evident as the hearings on important matters are well attended and in many instances overflow the accommodations, even of the largest committee room. The hearing Wednesday evening on the question of woman's suffrage attracted a large attendance, well over a thousand in fact, and it is a matter of regret that the distribution of admission tickets was so poorly handled as to arouse just criticism. The cause of the petitioners was well managed, groups of women from all ranks of life presenting the case from their individual point of view.

First came the mothers and after their case had been presented to the committee came the home makers. Then followed the other groups, the women of leisure, the unrepresented women, the taxpaying women, the business women, the trade union women, the working women, the lawyer women, the ministers and church workers, the physicians and nurses, the teachers, the musicians, the authors and journalists, the college women and the social workers. The opposition presented the old arguments with which everyone is familiar, harping principally upon the point that the women themselves do not want the ballot. At the hearing given the Boston school teachers for more pay, the attendance was more than the largest committee room would hold, and so it goes to show that the everyday citizen is waking up to some sense of his and her civic responsibilities.

The laxness with which legislation is sometimes framed is illustrated this week in the bill reported by the committee on cities to reduce the membership of the Newton school committee. The bill provides for the election of seven members of the new committee at the city election next December and then provides for a referendum on its acceptance by the people for the same election day. It is probable that the bill will be amended so as to hold the referendum at the state election, altho that will require quick work to arrange the necessary red tape for the city election the next month.

The Charles River hearings in which Newton and Waltham are interested are assigned for Feb. 28, and the Newton parkway matter for March 9.

The committee on counties has reported leave to withdraw on the proposition to increase the number of county commissioners in Middlesex to five. Charges of graft and corruption in Middlesex county were intimated before this committee by Chairman MacLeod of the Democratic state committee at the hearing to extend the civil service to county employees. Chairman Gould of Middlesex repelled Mr. MacLeod's insinuations with considerable vehemence and declared that there was nothing rotten in the county.

An important hearing was held this morning by the committee on taxation on the various bills to distribute the corporation tax among the municipalities where the business is located. Newton is greatly interested in this bill as it affects our income to a very large extent.

Tax Commissioner Trefry has appointed the state tax among the various cities and towns for the next three years and Newton is benefited a little by the change. Under the former apportionment we paid $20.39 per $1000 valuation and will pay but $19.42 under the new. In dollars and cents this would make a difference of $4365 on a state tax of $45,000,000 as levied last year. Mr. Trefry also strongly recommends that he be given authority to increase the valuation of the cities and towns to the extent that this department finds taxable property which the local assessors refuse or neglect to assess. Such action will tend to lower the state tax of municipalities which comply with the law governing assessment and will increase it in those so-called tax dodging towns which cater to the possessor of large personal estates.

J. C. BRIMBLECOM.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic:

Good old Horace tells us that superior minds are not at all times exempt from lapses, or from frailty. It happens that Congressman Weeks has introduced a bill which will save $500,000 to the Postoffice Department of government, but it imposes a direct tax of not less than $20,000,000 on the people of this country. It is one of those cases of statesmanship where the remedy is much worse than the disease, and the only excuse offered for it is that postmen are too often delayed at the front door by the non-quickness of servant or other person in the house, a delay estimated at a second or two in each case only, but counting up into many months in the grand total throughout the land. Therefore the honorable gentleman from Middlesex proposes to compel every householder in America to place a small letter box outside of his or her "diggins," otherwise no mail matter to be left at that happy home. There can be no doubt as to the unconstitutionality of such a law, and a few suits against the Postoffice Department for non-delivery of mail, properly stamped, would soon show its absurdities and little value. Still if we must have it, and our M. C. happens to be one of "Uncle Joe's" well beloved henchmen, therefore a likely winner, permit me to suggest a slight amendment to his measure. Make it an indispensable condition that the said mailbox must in all cases be placed as near as possible to the street, road, or other avenue in the postman's regular line of march, walk, stride, or ride, so that the too often delayed carrier shall not have to spend valuable seconds and minutes of time in passing through rich people's private grounds, lawns, meadows or other open spaces lying between said street, road, or other avenue and the "palatial" home of the plutocrat to whom the picture card, letter or other mail matter may be addressed. Seriously, $500,000 saved by the loss of $20,000,000; is the game worth the candle?

Hardness of Icebergs.

The hardness and strength of ice increases with the degrees of cold, and as icebergs come from the region of perpetual cold of an intensity difficult to realize it is readily seen how they can become "demons of destruction." The hardness of icebergs is something wonderful, even surpassing that of the "land ice" reported from St. Petersburg in 1740, wherein it is declared that "in the severe winter of that year a house was built of ice taken from the river Neva which was fifty feet long, sixteen feet wide and twenty feet high, and the walls supported the roof, which was also of ice. Before it stood two ice mortars and six ice cannon made on a turning lathe, with carriages and wheels also of ice. The cannon were of the caliber of six pounders, but they were loaded only with one-quarter pound of powder and with hemp balls—on one occasion with iron. The thickness of the ice was only four inches, and yet it resisted the explosion." Ice pulvers has also been built in late years in this country and in Canada which have stood for weeks, so then, how strong must be the ice in masses hundreds of feet in thickness!—Pittsburg Press.

Helped Him to Hurry.

Prince Bismarck once told a story of the battlefield of Koeniggratz. The old emperor, then king of Prussia, had exposed himself and his staff to the enemy's fire in a very reckless fashion and would not hear of retreating to a safe distance. At last Prince Bismarck rode up to him, saying: "As a responsible minister I must insist upon your majesty's retreat to a safe distance. If your majesty were to be killed the victory would be of no use to us." The king saw the force of this and slowly retreated, but in his zeal returned again and again to the front.

"When I noticed it," Prince Bismarck went on, "I only rode in my saddle and looked at him. He understood it perfectly and called out rather angrily, 'Yes, I am coming.' But we did not get on fast enough, and at last I rode close up to the king, took my foot out of the right stirrup and secretly gave his horse an energetic kick. Such a thing had never before happened to the fat mare, but the move was successful, for she shot off in a fine canter."

Tricks of Short Sight.

Not only the inanimate but the animate world presents itself in strange forms to the myopic. Humanity, for instance, is often revealed in somewhat inhuman guise. Thus, so far as our demonstration goes, the world to the shortsighted is peopled by men and women as faceless, sometimes even as headless, as the horseman of legendary fame. Indoors myopic persons get quite accustomed to talking with persons who have neither eyes nor nose. Out of doors the phenomenon is more striking because oftener repeated. At quite a short distance the face melts into the atmosphere and becomes either a cloud or, like E. G. Wells' invisible man, a nothingness. "I see the hat and the figure, sometimes the beard, I see the walking stick, if the hand is ungloved this stick is waving miraculously a little way from the sleeve edge, for the hand, like the face, has vanished."—Strand Magazine.

Charming Away Tigers.

No woodcutter will go about his task in the Indian forests unless he is accompanied by a fuker, who is supposed to exercise power over tigers and wild animals generally. Before work is commenced the fuker assembles all the members of his party in a clearance at the edge of the forest and erects a number of huts, in which he places images of certain deities. After offerings have been presented to the images the particular forest is declared to be free of tigers, and the woodcutters in virtue of the presents they have made to the deities are supposed to be under their special protection. If after all these precautions a tiger seizes one of the party the fuker speedily takes his departure without waiting to offer superstitious explanations.—Calcutta Statesman.

Not Mechanical.

A song and dance comedian was working in a cheap vaudeville house where a performance was given hourly. The tired performer had made nine appearances and had fallen asleep on his trunk when the manager poked him in the ribs and said: "Hey, you—wake up! It's time for you to go on again."

"Say," retorted the performer, "I can't go on again. What do you take me for—a dum?"—Metropolitan Magazine.

His Preference.

Pompano—Why do you work so hard, Bagley? You slave from morning until night. Bagley—I know I do. I wish to get rich. I want to die worth a million. Pompano—Well, there's no accounting for tastes. Now, I would much prefer to live worth half a million.—Philadelphia Call.

A Limited "Forever."

"What's the matter, Clara?" asked a father of his daughter. "Forever and I have parted forever." "Um! In that case I suppose he won't be calling for a couple of nights!"

His Delusion.

Howell—I had the nightmare last night. Powell—That so? Howell—Yes; I thought that I was being kicked by the foot of the bed.—New York Press.

An Example.

"Pa, what's a cynical smile?" "Your mother will show you, my son, the next time I tell her I can't spare all the money she wants."

AMONG WOMEN.

At the monthly meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club Thursday afternoon, Feb. 24, Miss Heloise E. Hersey lectured on "Tennyson, the Poet of the Twentieth Century." Three poems she considered his greatest productions, "Idylls of the King," "In Memoriam" and "The Princess," from all of which she read selections. In general, his message to the world was one of "largest hope," embodied in the poem "Vastness." With the reading of this the lecture closed.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Jerome Tennien, a teamster employed by Mr. M. Frank Lucas, fell from his seat on a heavily loaded lumber wagon at the junction of Richardson and Washington streets, last Friday morning and two wheels of the wagon passed over his body. He was removed to the Newton Hospital, where he died on Monday. He was 51 years of age and married.

BISHOP LAWRENCE HERE.

Bishop Lawrence administered the rite of confirmation in the presence of large congregations at three churches last Sunday. After confirming a class in Trinity Church at Newton Centre, Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, rector, in the morning, he confirmed one in the afternoon in St. Paul's Church at Newton Highlands, of which Rev. Albert N. Slayton is rector, and in the evening he confirmed a class of 18 in St. John's Church at Newtonville, where Rev. Richard T. Loring is rector.

The Very Simple Life.

Pierre Loti, the French author, always did like a practical joke. A French poet who had been advocating a return to the simple life decided one day to make the acquaintance of Loti. He left his village, he who never travels, stick in hand, to make the journey to Houdy, the home of Loti, on foot. He prayed the celebrated novelist to receive him without ceremony; that he should be satisfied with a bowl of milk for his repast.

But he was much astonished when the novelist took him at his word. In the dining room on a table without cloth or napkin there was only an immense crock of milk.

The visitor showed some hesitation about beginning the feast. Meanwhile his host began to walk around the room like a bear in a cage, only interrupting his walk from time to time to take a long swig of milk from the crock. Without saying a word the host invited the astonished guest to imitate him.

The man of the simple life had found one more simple than himself, and he left the house convinced that the great novelist had become crazy.

Settled the Difficulty.

An insurance agent had vainly tried to persuade a man to insure his valuables against burglary. "A safe's all very well," he admitted, "but look at the constant trouble of locking up and unlocking to see if your things are all right."

"I've got over that difficulty," declared the weary listener.

"Indeed?" said the agent incredulously. "How?"

"I've had a window put in the safe," growled the other.

An Indiscreet Memory.

The Hostess—Don't you think Colonel Broadside is quite a wonderful old man? Look at him. He is as straight and slender as an arrow, and he has the most wonderful memory. The Lady of Dubious Age—I think he's an atrocious old bore. He remembers when everybody was born.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Poor Dogs!

Returned Explorer—Yes; the cold was so intense at the pole we had to be very careful not to pet our dogs. Miss Youngthing—Indeed? Why was that? Returned Explorer—You see, their tails were frozen stiff, and if they wagged then they would break off.—Boston Transcript.

Where Her Thoughts Were.

Daughter—To tell the truth, pa, I didn't think much of the close of the sermon. Father—Thought more of the clothes of the congregation, eh?

If a man wishes to be treated with courtesy he should show courtesy to others.

When Man Was a Marine Animal. It was M. Quintan, a French physiologist, who several years ago wrote a paper to show that the colorless fluid in which the red corpuscles of our blood float and which is called the "blood serum" is the same fluid as that which constituted the primeval sea. The earliest forms of life which floated in the primeval sea were such that the cells and tissues of which they were constituted were always bathed by this primeval fluid. When silica became a constituent of the sea these animals may have coated themselves with siliceous coverings, but many of their cells were still bathed by the fluid, and some of them as they passed from the sea to the land may have closed up their alimentary canals, so that a distinction arose between their internal organs and their outer super-ficies, but still, for the good of their cells, they still bathed them in the saline fluid. To do so more effectively they took the saline fluid ashore with them in the form of a blood serum, and it is this blood serum which we carry about with us today, the most evident relic of the age when we were marine animals.

German Dialect in Wisconsin.

It is two German women who are speaking in the presence of an Irish woman.

"Th' tap o' th' mornin' t' ye, Miss Brettschneider. 'Tis glad I am t' see th' likes ar ye. Iss yer daughter Gretchen goin' t' th' Mill th' mornin'?"

"Faith an' she is. You me ye Hie-rich can get th' bay horse away from th' plovin' I 'luk I'll go meself, be-dad."

This is not travesty. It is a report of German dialect. The manner of speech came about naturally enough. When the Germans arrived here in full force the country was already settled, largely by Yankees and Irish, and the German had to buy his farm here or there. Thus a number of them found themselves located in the town of Erin, where, of course, they learned the language of the country. And I leave it to my fellow citizens in Wisconsin whether a German cannot speak as broad and rich a brogue as any son of Erin.—Charles D. Stewart in Atlantic.

First Use of Iron.

As a result of his interesting investigations, Dr. Ridgeway concludes that the smelting of iron originated in central Europe, and especially in the region known as Noricum, equivalent to modern Austria and Bavaria.

In Egypt it can be traced back to the ninth century B. C., and in Libya to about 450 B. C. First mention of its use in China goes back to 400 B. C., while in Uganda it is said to have been in use only some five or six centuries.

The above date for the first use of iron in Egypt refers to the metal obtained by smelting. The use of native iron in the form of meteorites dates back to remote antiquity. The weapons made from these were obtained, like flint implements, by chipping. And it is interesting to remember that recent investigations have shown that the iron of many meteorites is a sort of natural steel.

Cold English Fine.

In the past if one Englishman called another a liar there was something to pay. The seventeenth century mayor, sheriff and city grandees generally were keen on this point of etiquette. The direct accusation cost 1s. 6d. ($2.70); the subtle hint 6s. 8d. ($1.60). And there was a reduction on repetitions.

Swearing, too, was promptly suppressed. In 1650 a law was passed laying down the penalty for a first offense. The fines were graduated. That for a lord was 30 shillings ($7.20), for an esquire 10 shillings ($2.40), while all "inferior persons" could have a "few words" for 3s. 4d. (80 cents).

Bolivia.

Bolivia is famous for its silver, but also possesses considerable quantities of gold, which, however, cannot be extracted without great expense. In the seventeenth century an Indian near the town of La Paz found a mass of native gold, supposed to have been detached from the neighboring mountains by lightning. Bolivia is, on the whole, in a backward condition, political changes and internal conflicts having hindered the development of its natural wealth.

Not So Very Clever.

"Bilkins' wife found some poker chips in his pocket."

"Yes?"

"Well, Bilkins told her they were rough lozenges."

"Clever of Bilkins, wasn't it?"

"Very. She swallowed two and very nearly died."

He Was.

"Owen Flannagan! Are you Owen Flannagan?" said the clerk of the court.

"Yes, begorra," replied the prisoner, with a merry twinkle in his eye. "I'm owln' everybody!"—London Mail.

Hard Luck.

Old Lady—Poor man! What have you done to your hand? Unemployable—Broke my knuckles, mum, knocking 'at people's doors askin' for work.—London Scraps.

Keep Cool.

"Why worry about the children?"

"I can't help it."

"But, my dear, you are hurting your game of bridge."—Kansas City Journal.

A man is never appreciated in his home town, and he is usually not known in other places, and there you are.—Acheson Globe.

Sense and Sensibility. For some days the dining room had been disturbed by the invasion of the new boarder. She was fat, fifty and very sentimental, and her tender nature led her to whisper so many rapturous confidences in her neighbor's ear that all the rest of the table felt uncomfortable, so uncomfortable that one day after a harrassed breakfast the neighbor determined to make a struggle for liberty and general conversation. Her opportunity came that night at dinner.

"Sweet flowers of spring!" murmured the sentimentalist, apostrophizing the nodding daffodil centerpiece. "Aren't they dear? So full of poetry! And don't you think that we ought always to call them daffadowndillies instead of daffodils?" she whispered.

"No, I don't," answered the neighbor uncompromisingly and quite out loud. "Just think how awkward it would have been for Wordsworth if he'd had to write:

"And then my heart with pleasure fills And dances with the daffadowndillies!"

For once the sentimentalist was silenced.—Youth's Companion.

Facts About Hailstones.

If it was not for the countless trillions of dust particles that float separately, invisible in the atmosphere, there could be no raindrops, snow crystals or hailstones. From a perfectly dustless atmosphere the moisture would descend in ceaseless rain without drops. The dust particles serve as nuclei about which vapor gathers. The snow crystal is the most beautiful creation of the aerial moisture, and the hailstone is the most extraordinary. The heart of every hailstone is a tiny speck of dust. Such a speck, with a little moisture condensed about it, is the germ from which may be formed a hailstone capable of felling a man or smashing a window. But first it must be caught up by a current of air and carried to the level of the lofty cirrus clouds five or six or even ten miles high. Then, continually growing by fresh accessions of moisture, it begins its long plunge to the earth, spinning through the cloud and flashing in the sun like a diamond bolt shot from a rainbow.—New York Tribune.

The Thunder-Sounding Smoke.

The Victoria falls, the native name for which is Mosi-oa-Tunya, or the Thunder-Sounding Smoke, have rightly been called the most beautiful gem in the whole of the earth's scenery. No pen picture or photograph can give the faintest idea of the marvelous grandeur and beauty of the scene. The majesty and mystery of the gigantic gorges, the foaming torrents, the wonderful atmospheric effects—all come upon one with a force and power as though nothing had ever before been read or heard in connection with them. The falls by moonlight are a truly fascinating spectacle. The roaring clouds of spray, the somber rain forest, the stream of the Zambezi shimmering far above the trembling earth, the lunar rainbow, combine to make an indelible picture.

Where the Zambezi takes its mighty plunge of a sheer 400 feet the river is over a mile wide, or, to be exact, 5,808 feet.—Rand Mail.

Horse or Beef?

The first day horse was served out at Kimberley some of it was cooked for the officers' mess at the mounted camp. At the table Peckman said:

"Gentlemen, I am sorry to say that we were unable to get all our ration in beef today and had to take part of it in horsedesh. This which I am carrying is beef; the horse is at the other end, and any one who prefers it can help himself."

Nobody did prefer it, and so they all ate beef and made a good dinner. When they had finished Peckman suddenly exclaimed:

"By Jove, gentlemen, I find I have made a mistake in the joints. This is the horseshes and the other is beef."

It was just a dodge of his to get them started on the horsedesh.—Diary of Dr. Oliver Ashe.

Needle Dust.

In factories where needles are made the grindstones throw off great quantities of minute steel particles, with which the air becomes heavily charged, although the dust is too fine to be perceptible to the eye. Breathing the dust shows no immediate effect, but gradually sets up irritation, usually ending in pulmonary consumption. Ineffective attempts were made to screen the air by gauze or linen guards for nose and mouth. At last the use of the magnet was suggested, and now masks of magnetized steel wire are worn by workmen and effectively remove the metal dust before the air is breathed.—London Graphic.

Not Entertaining.

A vendor of fresh shrimps had had a very unexciting day. Money was scarce. Eventually in a dreary street a woman stood shouting at the door. Hurrying up, he asked eagerly, "A pen'orth, mum?"

"No," she replied sharply; "a hap'orth. D'y'e think we've got company?"—London Scraps.

What He Lacked.

"Oh, he's got a license, all right! What he lacks is a muzzle."—Cleveland Leader.

Disagreeable.

Aunt—I can tell at a glance what other people are thinking of me. Niece (absentmindedly)—How very disagreeable for you, auntie!

Although the world is full of suffering, it is full of the overcoming of it.—Keller.

To all persons interested in the estate of James H. Nickerson late of Newton in said County of Middlesex, deceased:

WHEREAS, Abbie M. Elwell and Emma L. Harrington, executrices of the will of said deceased have presented to said Court, their petition praying that they may be authorized and licensed to acknowledge payment of the amount of a certain mortgage assigned to said deceased by an instrument recorded with Middlesex (No. Dist.) Deeds Book 1987, Page 642, and to discharge the said mortgage, and in consideration of the payment to said deceased, execute and deliver any necessary instrument or instruments for the purpose.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourteenth day of March A. D. 1910, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

Women's Clubs

With the approach of March the clubs are beginning to make their plans for next year and one of importance is the appointment of the nominating committee. Great care is needed in the appointment of this committee as well as wisdom on its part when it comes to doing its work. This committee should include those who have had at some time actual experience on the executive board of the organization, in order to be familiar with what sort of material is needed to fill the various offices.

Then this committee should use judgment that the different ages of members may be represented in fair proportion. It seems very undesirable that all the officers should go off at the same time, and yet it is only fair to all the members that a certain number of new ones should come on in order to spread the interest. It is always well to bring in after a little some of the newer members of the club that they may learn the ways and wherefores, yet this should not be done to such an extent as to exclude good, faithful women who have been regular attendants. An established system of rotation in office makes matters much easier both for the nominating committee and for all concerned.

On Feb. 26, "Vegetables and a Vegetarian Dinner of Four Courses" will be the subject of Miss Howard's cooking lecture at the Technical High School in the course being given under the auspices of the Newton Centre Woman's Club.

On Tuesday, March 1, at 10:30 a. m., Miss Emma E. Porter will lecture on "Historic Paris," at the Congregational Church chapel under the auspices of the Auburndale Review Club. The lecture is open to the public upon payment of the usual fee.

The Newtonville Woman's Guild meets on Tuesday afternoon.

"Labor-Saving Devices in the Home" will be the subject of the Household Economics lecture to be given by Mrs. Blanche E. Hyde on March 1, under the auspices of the Newton Centre Woman's Club.

The monthly business meeting of the Social Science Club will be held on Wednesday morning, Mrs. Caroline E. C. Saville, a member of the art committee of the State Federation, will present the work of her committee during the last hour of the session.

On Thursday, March 3, at 2:30 the Ladies' Home Circle will meet in G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville.

The Newton Federation mid-winter meeting will be held at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, on Thursday, March 3, at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. F. H. Tucker will give an illustrated lecture on "Forestry and Conservation" and the Polymnia Club of Newtonville will render appropriate music. The public is cordially invited.

At a recent meeting the members of the Newton Centre Woman's Club were entertained by a paper on the "History of Dancing," written by Mrs. Philip H. Butler, read by Miss Harriet Webber, and illustrated by Miss Lillian Harrington, in costume.

Early Biblical dancing was represented by Miriam's dance; the folk-dance was shown by a Hungarian dance; then the ballet, after that a stately figure of the minuet, and last of all a revival of the old Grecian art in the modern aesthetic dancing. The program proved very interesting and was heartily applauded.

The Social Service committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club announces a lecture on March 10 at 10 o'clock by Rev. Edward H. Chandler, secretary of the Twentieth Century Club. His subject will be "Children and the Theatre." Mr. Chandler has made a special study of conditions prevailing at the present time in Boston and other cities and is considered an authority in this line. He is a well-known speaker on matters pertaining to social betterment and will no doubt present this much discussed subject in a thoughtful and illuminating manner. The interest and support of all club members at this lecture is desired.

Mrs. Rachel Noah France, with her "Recollections of the Stage," proved a very enjoyable speaker when she appeared last Monday afternoon before the Waban Woman's Club. Mrs. France's comparison of stage life in the early years of the last century with that of the present day was most vivid, while the personal touch, added to tales of bygone actors and actresses, increased the interest naturally felt in them.

At the meeting of the Newton Highlands Monday Club on Feb. 21 the study of George Eliot was continued by a paper, "Her Interest in Politics and Music," and a comprehensive review of "Romola." Next week the club meets with Mrs. Walter Goddard of Erie avenue.

Mrs. J. K. Hemphill of Boylston street entertained the Perian Club on Wednesday. After the business meeting Mrs. Alexander Dresser played a selection on the piano. The afternoon's program was in charge of Mrs. E. C. Cooper, who gave sketches of "Old War Songs"; Mrs. Hemphill presented an interesting paper on "The History of Our Flag," while Mrs. Gallison read "The Story of Abe," the War Eagle." Miss Agnes Newey rendered entertainingly a selection entitled "A Georgia Volunteer."

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Feb. 23 Mrs. Francis B. Hornbroke gave an interesting and sympathetic presentation of the life of Margaret Fuller. Today she said, Margaret Fuller's name is the only one of the Transcendentalists that stands out with vividness. Every one who came in contact with her felt her power. Born in 1810, she was brought up under the direction of her father, who set her at the study of Latin at the age of six and Greek when ten and proceeded with classical literature at a tremendous pace. She possessed a wonderful intellect, which her father attempted to train at the expense of her manners and the graces of life, so that she was often times ill-mannered and disagreeable as a child. But under the influence of a close friend she later learned to adjust herself to her surroundings, although throughout her life she, in common with her ancestors, lacked tact. Early in her career she asserted that the business of life was to grow. She had great regard for Emerson and read everything that he published. Mrs. Hornbroke related Mrs. Emerson's description of Margaret Fuller's visits to their home.

This remarkable woman possessed a strange magnetic power that attracted people to herself, but it was the feminine mind more than the masculine that responded to her influence.

After her father's death she taught for a number of years, and later started her famous "conversation class" in Jamaica Plain, which she carried on for six successive winters. These classes, said the essayist, were carried on similarly to the woman's club of today. Miss Fuller would talk upon some subject for a time and then the members asked questions and discussed the topics.

While Miss Fuller never was a member of the Brook Farm community, she was a close friend with many of the members, and became editor of "The Dial," the organ of the Transcendentalists. While she wrote many books, they never brought her money. Afterwards she was literary editor and critic of the New York Tribune for two years.

At length a visit to Europe was brought about and there she met Carlyle, Harriet Martineau, George Sand, and many other celebrities. While in Italy she met and married Marquis Ossoli and on their return to America in 1850 they with their child were lost in a shipwreck off Fire Island.

In summing up her character Mrs. Hornbroke said: "Her place in literature is not a great one. For one who accumulated so much she produced but little and that not of a lasting value. She was a seer, but not a fountain, but she was an inspirer of others, a patient and indefatigable student of all that was best. She most conscientiously improved every opportunity that came to her. In private life she had been a devoted daughter and sister. In her last years a tender wife and mother and always a loyal friend."

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The younger members being free from school and the older members from work, Washington's Birthday was one of the busiest holidays of the year.

Much interest was shown in the finish of the billiard tournament which was won by Harold Decker. Mr. Fred B. Smith, who spoke on Y. M. C. A. Sunday in Eliot Church last year, will again visit Newton to speak under the auspices of the association.

Mr. Herbert C. Fraser has been elected to the board of directors to fill the unexpired term of Theodore R. Lockwood, who resigned. Mr. John A. Gardner, who was long associated with the board of managers of the St. Louis association, has been elected to the board of directors, together with Mr. F. S. Retan, who for some time was connected with the work of the association in Burlington, Vt. Mr. Lockwood's resignation was accepted with regret. His work while on the board of directors was much appreciated.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT.

The boys' department held a game tournament with the boys of the Cambridge Y. M. C. A. last Saturday afternoon, in which our home boys were victors. There were five games put on, namely, ping pong, chess, pool, checkers and shuffle. Connelly and Burns won in ping pong with a score of 10 to 1; Burrows and Osborne in chess, score 7 to 4; Walker and McDougall lost in pool, score 5 to 9; Fairweather and Chivers lost in shuffle, score 1 to 8; Doherty and K. Rogers won in checkers, score 6 to 5. The total score was 20 to 27 points.

This coming Saturday the boys of the Camera Club will take a long hike to secure some good winter pictures. All Camera Club boys will please take note of this and be on hand at the building at 9:30 sharp.

The Bible classes are meeting every Friday at 5:30 p. m.

PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT.

The basketball teams added to their list of victories last week Wednesday, the first team defeating Lynn Y. M. C. A. This was the first time in two years that these teams met. The Newton team showed its superiority in every phase of the game. Cady, who has been playing in Milley's place the last two games, did exceptionally well.

The next game will be with the strong Springfield Y. M. C. A. team, which is the fastest aggregation in the western part of the State, having already defeated Newton on the Springfield floor by a score of 25 to 18. Newton hopes, however, to defeat this team March 2.

The relay team continued adding to its laurels by defeating the strong Kalmus Club of Worcester at the Lowell Light Guard meet last Saturday evening, the Kalmus Club having before this race defeated all strong Y. M. C. A. teams.

Preparations are now being made for the first contest for the second cup presented by Mr. A. H. Waitt. The meet will be held March 26. The date for the annual exhibition has been set for March 30 and 31.

A squad of 12 boys will go to Quincy Feb. 26, to compete in the boys' state championship meet. The boys' relay team will compete against Lynn.

At Troy, N. Y., on Tuesday, J. Hines of this association won the 40-yard dash, and finished second in the 150-yard dash, and J. J. Cody won the running high jump.

On Wednesday evening the basketball team defeated Melrose Y. M. C. A. 28 to 9. The second team was beaten by Boston Y. M. C. A. second 26 to 14.

An endeavor will be made to close the basketball season March 16, with a game between the first team and the old-timers.

Those who have seen the beautiful cup presented by Mr. A. H. Waitt for the next competition in the Waitt trophy meet, declare it a beauty and many have already signified their intention of entering the Waitt trophy meet, which will be held about the second week in March. The exact date will be announced later.

Preparations are being made to make the annual gymnastic exhibition the greatest ever. This year it will run two nights, the program being varied each evening. Classes are now in training for special drills and dances.

FAVORS PARKWAY.

Believing it desirable that a park connection be made between the Metropolitan Park Reservation in the northern part of the metropolitan district with those in the southern part of the district and that some portion of the Metropolitan Park system be located in the city of Newton and the town of Brookline; and believing that the metropolitan district will be greatly benefited by the passage of House Bill No. 648, and the acquisition of the park and parkways shown on a plan prepared by a committee of the citizens of Newton and Brookline, drawn by Herbert J. Kellaway, landscape architect, showing such a connection between the Charles River Reservation and the West Roxbury Parkway, which plan meets the approval of the executive committee of the Newton Centre Improvement Association of the city of Newton; now, therefore be it

RESOLVED, That said plan be approved and the executive committee of the Newton Centre Improvement Association hereby requests the representatives of the city of Newton in the General Court to favor the passage of House Bill No. 648, and to take such steps as may be in their power to secure for the next extension of the park system of the metropolitan district, the land and ways shown on said plan as included in the proposed park connection, or such other land and ways as may in their judgment be more desirable or less expensive and that an attested copy of this resolution be sent to the Senator from the First Middlesex District and to each of the Representatives of the city of Newton in the House of Representatives.

Castle Square Theatre—The production of "The Spitfire" at the Castle Square will bring an entirely new play to Boston. It is a comedy in four acts by Edward Peple, dramatized by him from his popular novel of the same name. All who have read that novel will remember its romantic and comic scenes shown a yacht in mid-ocean, the sudden arrival of the hero apparently from nowhere, the heroine and her stolen gems, and the storm that finally casts yacht and passengers on the sandy shores of New Jersey. The first act shows the vessel at anchor in the harbor of Calais, and her departure for her voyage across the Atlantic; the second act shows the yacht four days later well on her way to America; the third act is six days later in two scenes, the first bringing to view the interior of the Spitfire's cabin and the second her deck after the wreck, and the fourth act comes the morning after the wreck. The play is a novelty from beginning to end and in producing it at the Castle Square Mr. Craig is undoubtedly starting it on a long and prosperous career as one of the most successful plays of the present day.

One can very often cut down his expenses by cutting out his extravagances.

We have still a few very desirable patterns in wall papers left from our new winter goods. There is not a great amount of any one pattern, enough perhaps for a room or two.

In buying these, you will be sure of exclusive designs, strictly new, and prices that probably no house in Boston would quote. In addition you can have your paper hung just when is most convenient for you.

The work will be done with very slight disarrangement of your rooms,—quickly,—perfectly,—with the Bemis and Jewett guarantee to protect you. Call us or come in.

BURN LESS GAS

YOU KNOW, if you stop to think, that a lot of good heat escapes when you cook with the ordinary gas stove. You pay good money for that heat.

This Heat Distributor uses all of the heat. You need use only the front burners. One burner will cook a meal. One burner turned half off will keep a whole meal hot. There are eight or nine other points of advantage besides the economy. Send for our book. It will set you thinking.

Tax Commissioner Trefry's report on the matter of taxation of educational institutions is of particular application in this city, where upwards of two hundred thousand dollars of taxable value have been recently exempted by the coming into the city of Boston College. Newton suffers this loss in dignified silence, although this institution brings no material advantage to Newton as all its supplies will be obtained in Boston. But when the college seeks to still further affect our valuation by transferring a large area of taxable property to the city of Boston, for sentimental reason solely, causing Newton an annual loss of upwards of $2000, it is high time to protest. Our city authorities should take prompt action in opposing this wholly unnecessary project.

Our correspondent "Taxpayer" goes far afield in calling Congressman Weeks a "henchman of Joe Cannon." A fair criticism of the matter of refusing to deliver mail by carrier to those houses which are not equipped with mail boxes is one thing, and calling unjust and wholly irrelevant names is another. Congressman Weeks is nobody's "henchman" in the common acceptance of that term and has made a high reputation for himself at Washington for sturdy independence and sound judgment.

HUNNEWELL CLUB.

The ladies' bowling tournament is closing with first honors divided between teams captained by Mrs. Chipman and Mrs. Mullen.

In the men's tournament Captain Dexter's team leads in the first division and Captain Learned in the second.

The beautiful bowling cup offered for the holiday on Tuesday lies between Mr. F. H. Potter and Mr. O. W. Holmes, who will have to roll off the tie.

A club meeting has been called for next Thursday night to take action on the proposed amendment to the by-laws.

The Hunnewell Club held open house on Washington's birthday. The feature of the day was the old folks' dance held in Stanley Hall in the evening, in charge of Dr. M. E. Gleason. Some of the guests appeared in costume and the dance orders were very artistic with a fine portrait of George Washington on the front cover. The matrons were Mesdames Oliver M. Fisher, Henry Tolman, Samuel Usher and Wiley S. Edmunds. The floor directors were Messrs. J. D. Crawford, William F. Garscote, J. Murray Olinby, Henry W. Kendall and Myerl Bruner. The gentlemen officiating as ushers were Commodore Frank E. Sawyer and Messrs. George Fred Simpson, Thomas E. Eustis, Edwin F. Sawyer, Fred A. Wilcox and Frank E. Marston. Music was provided by the First Corps Cadets Orchestra.

The hall was attractively decorated with bunting and flags. A large flag was festooned across the stage, small American flags arranged in pairs around the walls and small flags of all nations adding color and variety to the scene.

NEWTON CENTRE VESPERS.

The next vesper service at the First Church at Newton Centre will be given on Sunday, March 20, at 4 p. m., when Stahler's "Crucifixion" will be given by a double quartet assisted by Mr. Ralph Smalley, cellist from the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

On Easter Sunday the regular quartet will be assisted by Mr. Adolph, violinist, and Mr. Heinrich Schuecke, harpist, both from the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

CAMP FIRE

Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R., held a well attended campfire last evening in Temple Hall, Newtonville, with nearly 200 members and guests present. Invitations had been sent to all the surrounding G. A. R. posts, including Post 161, Needham; 63, Natick; 29, Waltham; 81, Waltham; 143, Brookline; 26, Roxbury; 92, Brighton; 56, 57, 30 and 186, Cambridge, and 2, South Boston, and to all the associate members of the home post.

A baked bean supper was served at 7 o'clock and with clay pipes and tobacco furnished by the post, the hall soon resembled an old-time battlefield.

The head table was placed on the stage and flanked with stacks of guns and flags. Commander Isaac F. Kingsbury presided and with him were Post Department Commanders John E. Gilman, D. H. Gleason, J. Payson Bradley, W. A. Wetherbee, James H. Wolff, Senior Vice Department Commander J. Willard Brown, Junior Vice Department Commander Grantville C. Fiske, Department Quartermaster General Daniel Eldredge, Department Patriotic Instructor Chas. S. Parker, Thomas Ames of the administrative council, Rev. Mr. Gregg, of Cambridge and Representative Boitfield. One of the interesting features of the evening was the singing and life playing of Comrade Putnam, a man 81 years of age. The Chase family furnished some good instrumental music while the supper was being served and accompanied Mr. Wetherbee in his singing of "Marching Through Georgia."

Remarks were made by Messrs. Brown, Fiske, Boitfield, Gilman, Bradley, Wolff, Greggson, Parker, Gleason and Eldredge. Mr. Gilman said that these gatherings keep us alive and make us young again. He spoke eloquently of the merging of the soldier into the citizen at the close of the war, termed it the greatest miracle this country had ever seen, and declared it to be the proudest feather in the caps of the veterans.

Mr. Bradley spoke of the great mission the veterans had to perform in educating the children in the public schools in the matter of patriotism. He referred to the act of Virginia in seeking to place a statue of General Lee in the Hall of Fame and asked what Virginia could say when asked what this man had done for his country as contrasted with Washington, the founder of his country, and with Lincoln, the saviour of his country.

Mr. Wolff was much more emphatic regarding the Lee incident, declaring it to be an insult offered to the brave men who saved the nation.

Mr. Parker led in singing the song "We Old Boys," written by his brother, John L. Parker, department commander of the Newton Centre G. A. R. Post. Plummer told some good stories. Mr. Henry Hayne read some fake telegrams from all the noted personages in the world. The evening ended with the singing of "America."

YOUNG MAN DEAD.

Gordon B. Van Tassel, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Van Tassel of Newtonville, died suddenly at the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital Monday night. He was operated upon in Brooklyn, N. Y., last week for meningitis, and a few days ago was removed to Boston. Since then his condition has grown worse.

He was 18 years of age. In 1908 he was captain of the Newton High School football team which won the championship of the Preparatory league and was one of the best tackles in Greater Boston. He was one of the most popular students at the high school, where he was a member of exclusive societies. He was recently a student in the Pratt Institute in New York.

The funeral services held yesterday afternoon at the Van Tassel home, Newtonville avenue, Newtonville, were attended by classmates, members of the football team which he captained, high school teachers, and a host of friends.

The service was conducted by Rev. Jay T. Stocking, pastor of Central (Congregational) Church, and there were selections by the church choir. The floral offerings were many, including tributes from his classmates, the football team and fraternities of which he was a member. The bearers were Messrs. Janice Hughes of Brooklyn, Richard Boyer of Cambridge and Louis Washburn and Stephen Hopkins, former classmates in the high school. Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

MRS. COTTING DEAD.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cotting for 35 years a resident of this city, died Monday at the home of her son, C. Burton Cotting of 151 Oakleigh road, Newton, at the age of 65. She suffered a shock in July and last week was afflicted with a second one.

Mrs. Cotting was long active in the West Newton Women's Educational Club, the Home Circle of West Newton and the women's organization connected with the First Universalist Church at Newtonville. She was the widow of Fred B. Cotting and was a native of Lubec, Me. She is survived by three sons, Mr. William B. Cotting of Melrose, Mr. Walter M. Cotting of Wakefield and Mr. C. Burton Cotting of Newton.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the chapel in Newton Cemetery, Rev. Albert Hammett of the Universalist Church officiating.

ENAMEL WARE CAUSES CANCER, SAYS DOCTOR

Tells Homeopaths Particles From Dishes Start Growths in Stomach.

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 11.

INTRODUCTION of modern enamel ware in the kitchens of the country is responsible for many cases of cancer, was the striking theory advanced by Dr. William H. Dieffenbach, of New York, in a paper entitled, "Observations on the Etiology of Cancer," read before the Bureau of Sanitary Science and Public Health at which leading experts of the International Homoeopathic Congress met today to discuss questions of public health.

The argument advanced was that chipping of the hard-coated dishes used in preparation of men's allowed minute but dangerous particles of foreign matter to become mixed with the food. These are taken into the stomach, where the cancerous growth is caused by abrasions which they make in the walls of the organ.

NEWTON SNOWSHOERS AT JACKSON.

Among those going to Jackson, N. H., for the annual February snowshoeing excursion of the Appalachian Mountain Club were Miss C. R. Benton, D. A. Harrington, Foster S. Harrington, Miss N. Elsie Harrington, William T. May and Miss Elizabeth Polhemus of Newton Centre; Mrs. Arthur W. Blakemore, Frank H. Burt, Miss Grace M. Burt, Miss Sallie A. Cutler, Miss Florence G. Elms, W. H. Greeley, Miss Katherine W. Holmes, Howard Jackson, Miss Kate Jackson, Vernon B. Swift, Fred H. Tucker, Miss Katherine Tucker and Alonzo R. Weed of Newton; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Chase, Miss Adelaide Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Weston, Jr., and H. L. Tilton of West Newton; Walter S. Edmunds and Frank E. Morse of Andover.

The party was the largest snowshoe party in the history of the club, numbering in all about 140. The Iron Mountain House, the usual headquarters for the February party, was crowded to the limit of its capacity and quite a number went to Gray's Inn. The conditions were ideal for snowshoeing at the beginning of the visit and mountain climbing, sleighing and visits to logging camps furnished abundant outdoor diversion. On Monday evening Prof. H. C. Parker of Columbia University gave a lecture on "Mount McKinley." A Washington's Birthday dinner was given Tuesday evening.

Mr. Allston Burr of Newton, with two companions, walked over Mount Washington on Sunday, starting from Bretton Woods and ascending by the railway track and going down Tuckerman's Ravine. They reached the Iron Mountain House at 11 p. m. Six of the Newton party came home on Tuesday, stopping at Crawford's to climb Mt. Willard.

MR. RICHARDS DEAD.

After an illness lasting since November, Joseph W. Richards, chief accountant of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, died Wednesday in Newton Hospital, in his 48th year. He is survived by his wife, Katherine P. Richards, and one son, Joseph W. Richards, Jr.

He was born in Ironton, O., Jan. 10, 1863, and after being educated in the public schools there came to Boston in 1882. He became chief clerk in the general auditor's office of the Fitchburg railroad. Later he was promoted to auditor of freight accounts, auditor of traffic receipts and finally became general auditor. When the Boston & Maine leased the old Fitchburg road he became assistant general auditor of the former railroad.

In 1901 he resigned to become assistant general auditor of the Chicago Telephone Company. A year ago he was recalled to Boston, where he was made chief accountant of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. His death was due to a tumor of the brain.

SCHOOL BOARD DINED.

The students of the Technical and extra Technical High School classes in Household Economics, under the direction of Mrs. Blanche E. Hyde, were the hostesses at a dinner given the members of the school committee on Wednesday evening at the school dining room in the new high school building.

All of the work was done by the pupils of the school, even the table linen having been hemmed and embroidered in the school work, the printing class printed the menus, the girls wrote the invitations and the enlarged table top was made by the manual training class. The dinner was given as a preliminary test of what the class expect to do next year, in running the school lunch room, and was highly satisfactory to the school officials. The menu included consommé with breadsticks, fillet of halibut with Hollandaise sauce, cucumbers and olives, roast sirloin of beef with Dutchess potatoes and spinach, pineapple salad and rolls, vanilla ice cream and ginger sauce, cheese, crackers and coffee.

The young ladies who had arranged for the dinner were called in and Mr. Boitfield, in behalf of the committee, thanked them for their excellent service and dinner, and Mr. Bassett gave an interesting rhyme bringing in the names of all who had participated in the affair.

—The many friends of Mr. Gordon G. Lyford of Sumner street were interested to know how he would come out in court last Saturday morning, the charge against him being that of snowballing Police Officer Condy the previous night. It seems that he was walking home with a young lady who lived on Commonwealth avenue and they saw the officer standing on Centre street. Lyford deliberately picked up a snowball and hurled it at the policeman, striking him in the neck. When he was caught he explained that it was only a joke, but Condy evidently thought that this was a case when a joke had been carried too far and so summoned him to court. Judge Kennedy dismissed the case and placed it on file, but before doing so explained the law to Lyford in a clear and concise manner.

MALICIOUS MISCHIEF.

Officials of the Boston & Albany railroad report to the police that a snowball was thrown through a window of the 5:08 eastbound train, between Auburndale and West Newton, Tuesday evening, and that several persons narrowly escaped being struck by glass. For more than a year the railroad officials have been troubled by main line trains being stoned, particularly near Newtonville, and it is proposed to make an example of the offenders when caught.

Here is a Tel-Electric Piano-Player attached to a Grand Piano

It may also be attached to an Upright

The Keyboard is Always Free for Hand Playing

It may be as far from the Piano as Desired

If you have not seen or heard the Tel-Electric Piano-Player you have deprived yourself of knowing one of the most wonderful inventions of the day

It Marks a New Epoch in Piano-Player Production

The perfection of the Tel-Electric Piano-Player marks a new epoch in the production of musical devices. Its wonderful renditions, and, withal, its extreme simplicity and freedom from the many disadvantages of the pneumatic player, has brought it the unanimous approval of the music world. It is unquestionably the most important musical invention since the introduction of the old Harpsichord several centuries ago.

Operated by Electricity but Controlled by You

The Tel-Electric Piano-Player is operated by electricity, although electric current in the house is not necessary. It is perfectly controlled by easily mastered devices and, contrary to the old style pneumatic player, your feet have nothing to do. It is a player of which you will never tire because it never tires you to play it.

It will also, without your assistance, produce all music exactly as indicated by the composer and cut into the music rolls.

Don't Sacrifice Your Piano—Attach a Tel-Electric Player

If you now own a piano do not sacrifice it by receiving a small allowance on the cost of a player piano, but attach a Tel-Electric Piano-Player to it. If you do not own a piano you can secure your favorite instrument from us with a Tel-Electric Piano-Player attached.

In either instance you will save money, and in both you will be buying more enjoyment.

"Compare it with the Tel-Electric before you buy."

IMMORTALITY

ADDRESS BY REV. JULIAN K. SMYTH

At the Church of the New Jerusalem, Newtonville, Rev. J. K. Smyth of New York city spoke to a large gathering recently upon "The Certainty of Immortality."

Immortality is not, he said, a theory requiring proof. It has always been believed in, has shaped human character from the beginning, and has always rested on evidence. The theories of reasoners have often obscured it, but it has come, in positive and simple form, from time to time, as a revelation from heaven.

The Bible, ignoring human theories, presents to us in many ways the fact of another world, telling how, at a certain vital moment, of some leader's or prophet's, King's history, the veil was parted, and ministering beings appeared spoke with them face to face uttered their commands or counsels and were gone. Nothing ghostly or unreal about it. And again, the same divine book assures us of the presence of ministering angels.

"He shall give His angels charge over thee, to keep thee"; "their angels, the angels of the little ones, 'do all ways behold the face of my Father';" "the angels of the presence of the angels, over one sinner that repenteth." In the culminating scene of Christ's great trial, when He rebuked Peter for using his sword against His captors, He said: "Thinkest thou that I cannot now pray to my Father, and He can presently give me more than twelve legions of angels?" The belief, held as a potent fact, is imbedded deep in all Bible history. Yea, in the last bitter hours of that Divine life, the assurance of the ever-present disciples, "in my Father's house are many mansions; if not, I would have told you, I go to prepare a place for you."

Again, all down the history of the race, including our own days, including some right within the experience of many of us, are instances where, before the opened spiritual sight of the dying, friends and relatives long gone have appeared, bringing messages of comfort and assurance. Strains of music have been heard, glimpses of another world have removed the sense of death.

But more, the promise of Christ respecting His resurrection was realized. Again and again He appeared. It was a fact to the early disciples. On that fact, as on a strong foundation, the Christian Church was built. And then, what called Saul from his persecution of the people of God, and made him the strong apostle to carry the good tidings to the ends of the earth? The simple fact that Jesus spoke to him from the other side of the veil. Persecution, pain, hunger, thirst, torture, martyrdom, could not destroy the fact of the resurrection. "We know," said Paul, said Peter, said John.

The evidences adduced by spiritualists and the researches of the Psychical Society with all the trivialities and frauds attending them, do indeed interfere with the simplicity, dignity and grandeur of the Bible conceptions. But here Swedenborg comes to our aid. More than a century before modern spiritualism was recognized, he declared the danger of any attempt to gain a knowledge of the unseen world by the senses, and clearly describes the false and evil character of those who come at the call of such investigators. Notwithstanding the common belief of the ignorant, Swedenborg is the most pronounced opponent of spiritualism, recognizing the possibility of it, but solemnly declaring the danger of seeking for sensuous communication with the unseen world.

For 27 years of his life, or from the age of 57 to 84, Swedenborg lived a simple, normal life, filling his post in the Swedish House of Nobles (the Senate), with distinction, never seeking as a religious leader, never seeking to draw attention to himself, but on the contrary, he published his religious works anonymously until nearly the end, when he subscribed his name as "servant of the Lord Jesus Christ."

The situation is unique. Earnestness and dignity marked every act. He never served as a "medium," nor ever employed or recognized one. He refused to satisfy curiosity. An English writer says: "If Swedenborg had been as to the main fact of his intercourse with the spiritual world; if all his experiences of this kind were simply his own dreamings and musings thrown into apparent objectivity, he must have been the victim of delusions so sustained and consistent as to constitute a psychological marvel of the first magnitude. This is not a case of occasional apparitions, but of a consistent dual life lived during more than a quarter of a century. No is the observer of hysterical or excitable person, but a singularly composed, sedate thinker and investigator of mature years, who carries his habits of careful and methodical research into this strange and unforeseen sphere of labor."

As for wilful imposture, there never was a more transparently honest, unworldly, consecrated worker than he. Indeed, his self-forgetfulness, his utter devotion to his work, his unshaken belief that he was serving God as an instrument for the doing of a work in which he claimed not one least particle of merit—that was one of the most pronounced as well as one of the most beautiful characteristics of his nature.

Note, too, his solemn assertion that the things which he saw and heard in the spiritual world were revelations made in normal states of mind, in broad wakefulness. He did not need to go into a state of trance. Like John the Revelator, who in the tale of Patmos was "in the spirit on the Lord's day," so Swedenborg, in the privacy of his room, diligently studying the word of God, was allowed, so he solemnly avers, frequently, to see at a time, to be "in the spirit," which enables him to see spiritual scenes which he could not see, he could not hear, he could even participate in the things of the spiritual world about him.

Listen to this, his statement: "The man of the church at this day knows scarce anything of heaven and hell, or of his own life after death, although these things are all described in the word. Indeed, many who are born within the church even deny them, saying in their heart, 'who has come from that world and told us?' Least, therefore, such denial, prevailing especially with those who have much worldly wisdom, should also infect and corrupt the simple in heart and faith, it has been given me to be in company with angels, and to talk with them as men with men, and also to see what is in the heavens and what is in the hells, and this for 13 years. (He was at this time but half through the period of his seer-ship). Therefore I can now describe these things from what I have heard and seen, in the hope that this ignorance may be enlightened and unbelief dispelled."

Mr. Smyth proceeded to give an abstract of Swedenborg's teachings about the experience of death and the resurrection, the nature of the judgment, or the coming to the surface of the interiorly chosen life, and finally the nature of heaven. His joyous and loving and useful activities, and his state of inward peace.

NEWTONVILLE LOSES A VALUED ORGANIST.

Through the resignation of its organist, Mr. Richard P. Law, to accept a call to a wealthy and influential church in Brookline, the Newtonville New Church Society on Highland avenue meets with a serious and most regrettable loss. Mr. Law, going away is particularly to be deplored because both as organist and choir master he has proved himself so acceptable. He has exercised a fine moral influence over his boys and musically has brought them up to a stage of efficiency both in tone quality and style of singing, that has amazed and delighted the congregation.

Even in his short term of service Mr. Law has done many, and lasting friends who feel his resignation to be a sad blow to their hopes for the better things from the choir that had begun to seem assured. It must needs be a good man who will fill Mr. Law's place to the satisfaction of both choir and congregation.

Millie Beardsley Concert Company Orchestra.

Written for the 20th anniversary of Boynton Lodge No. 20, U. O. of I. O. L.:
What pleasant recollections Anniversaries bring.
How tender are the memories
That ever round them cling.
Our twentieth anniversary,
How it rings in our ears,
Laden with memories
That we treasure and dear.
See the dear, familiar faces
Of those who started with us
In the old accustomed places.
Through these years that have passed,
What changes have come
To us in the lodge room.
To many in the home.
Some have heard the "Master's" summons,
And we miss them today.
Some have joined other lodges,
Some have moved far away.
We miss Sister "Boynton,"
We miss her words of cheer,
Her loving words of counsel
She gave to us when here.
Our honored Sister "Boynton,"
This lodge bears her name,
Ever dear to our hearts
Will her memory remain.
As we glance at our roll book,
Other faces we miss,
They've answered the "Roll" up yonder.
In that land of joy and bliss,
The "Old Lodge" "Boynton."
As some of you may know,
Was launched in West Newton
Just twenty years ago.
She started on her first voyage
With only twenty-five,
Fellow officers and crew,
We were very much alive,
And success crowned their efforts,
And in a very short time
A glance at the roll book Showed a hundred and nine.
Of our charter members,
Only ten of them are left,
"Clark," "Kimball," "Kingsbury,"
"Wetherbee," "Spence," "Temperley," "Linton," "Brunett."
Thus has "Boynton" weathered the gales,
For twenty years sailed along,
Manned by officers and crew,
So valiant and so strong,
And she has started this year
With just as fine a corps
Of good and faithful officers,
Just listen, while I tell you more.
We've good old "Daniel" at the helm.
And when storms doth appear,
We know prayer is a rail,
And we have no fear,
But the "Fog will" lift,
And it rains downward pour,
The prayers of our "Chaplain,"
Will keep us from being "Wetmore."
On board of our "Ship,"
We've an excellent "Cook,"
And to the wants of the sick
She carefully does look.
We sail smoothly along with compass,
And "May Clark" to keep the "Log,"
In sunshine or in fog.
As we sail "Jordan's" waters,
So placid and so clear,
For the cargo of our ship,
We have nothing to fear.
And though "Sibels" abounds,
In our cargo today,
We think our "Treasurer"
Will keep it out of harm's way.
We have plenty of "Dunham,"
Among the stores of our "Ship,"
But storms will not harm it,
For of course the "Fog will" lift.
We have had for many "Weeks"
A "Pilot" faithful and true,
And our fifteen candidates
She's "piloted" safely through.
We have a "Newcomer,"
On board of our "Ship,"
Who lets no one pass her Unless she gives her "Up."
We expect our "Superior Officers"
This year will make things "hum,"
And melodious will be
The strains of our "Robin-son,"
While "Brad-fords" the river,
Helping candidates through,
And of course thus far this year
They have had plenty to do.
Now if dark clouds threaten We're a safe "Harbor" in the storm,
For we keep "Lee-land" in the sight
As we go sailing along.
Our "Captain" chose a "First mate,"
Who we think is rather "Young,"
But then the work this year
Will surely be well done;
With "Free-love" as "Second mate,"
How jolly they will be,
Happiness will reign supreme Among these "Officers" three.
On board the "Ship" "Boynton"
There is an "Onlooker" more,
Sister "Powles," our pianist,
Who furnishes music galore.
When the bugle is sounded,
We fall into line,
Keeping step with each other,
To her music so fine.
Justly proud are we, my "sisters,"
Of our little "Boynton band,"
May we strive this year to make it
The best "Lodge" in the land.
Whether come clouds or sunshine,
May we press firmly on,
Ever bear aloft our "Watchwords"
Until the victory is won.
Till we reach the port of heaven,
Enter safely at last,
Sails furled, but "Colors" flying.

We will there our anchor cast.
Anniversaries all ended,
Lodge meetings on earth o'er,
May we meet in the "Grand Lodge,"
An "unbroken band" forevermore.
MAY E. CLARK.

THEATRES

Hollis Street Theatre—A theatrical event of sufficient interest to attract every playgoer in Boston and vicinity is the appearance at the Hollis Street Theatre for two weeks only, beginning Monday, Feb. 28, of Henrietta Crossman, the foremost American comedienne, in her recent New York comedy success, "Sham." Her appearance in any play is a source of pure delight and in "Sham" she will be doubly welcome. Already the demand for seats indicates one of the most prosperous engagements of the season.
"Sham" is a play of today and its theme is the tendency among many classes of people to aspire to positions beyond their merit or means. Its chief character is a young woman of pedigree and tradition, but having very little income with which to maintain her exalted social position.
In the character of the social sham, Miss Crossman has scored the most emphatic triumph of her career, and the original company surrounding her is one of the best yet seen in a modern play. Matinees will be given Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Keith's Theatre—Mr. Keith has sprung another sensation on the vaudeville public in Albert Hole, the wonderful soprano who appeared at his theatre in Boston last week and has created such a furore, not only among the musical fraternity, but among the ladies and children, that he is being held over. It is not only the boy's splendid voice which makes the appeal, but his wonderful personality. The entire bill will be in keeping with this feature, a particular member of it being Robert Keger, and company in the Edgar Allen Poe sketch, entitled "The Tell-Tale Heart"; Sidney Deane and company in his famous singing comedy, "Christmas on Blackwell's Island"; Lyons and Yosco, the Italian street singers; Redford and Winchester, comedy jugglers; Robert Demont, Trio in "Hotel Turnover," and others.

Shubert Theatre—The theatregoers of Boston and New England have not in years been treated to quite such a high pitch of enthusiasm as ever. Lew Fields' mammoth musical comedy production, "The Midnight Sons," which starts on its fourth week at the Shubert Theatre next Monday night, Feb. 28.

The engagement is an indefinite one and will only be continued in Boston as long as the enthusiasm over its unique and lavish amusement keeps at fever pitch. It is said to be the most expensive musical comedy ever staged and there are too many other cities around the country anxious to see it for a prolonged stay in Boston. In fact there are but few theatres in the country which can accommodate such intricate and intense scenic effects as the Pullman train shooting up the line at a mile a minute with a honeymoon party on the rear platform of the last car bidding the audience good-bye, and the realistic theatre scene representing another audience watching a performance in another theatre.

American Musical Hall—For next week there is another all-star aggregation that will make Boston theatregoers sit up and take notice. A big feature will be the four Altonians, that famous family of fun-makers that prove the life of any bill on which they appear. The Empire City Quartet has become nationally famous because of its remarkable singing and the laughable comedy that pervades the act. A genuine novelty is promised in the appearance of the mysterious Balloon Girl. This girl is extremely fine looking and wears a closely-cropped dress and while singing the song "Take Me Up With You, Dearie," she floats in a big illuminated balloon over the heads of the audience. The three Richardsons are gymnasts whose feats of strength and daring are unsurpassed. Delightful comedy will be furnished by Nicholson and Horton, who will present their sartorial cartoon, "Gowns Bordelaise."

Boston Theatre—The exceptional interest manifested in the engagement of "Winchester" at the Boston Theatre attests its popularity among theatre patrons generally throughout New England. Now in its eleventh year and still at the head of all dramatic spectacles is a tribute which mildly expresses the wonderful possibilities of the Wallace romance and its universal appeal. The third week at the Boston Theatre begins Monday the 28th instant. Owing to the immensity of the production, "Ben-Hur" cannot be seen elsewhere in New England. When first produced at the Broadway Theatre in New York City, in the autumn of 1899, the late Bishop Potter characterized it as "a mighty play." He was one of many who discerned in it an enduring drama which would prove as great a favorite with all classes as did the book from which it had been dramatized.

Looking Pleasant.
(From Baptist Commonwealth, Philadelphia, Pa.)
Why is it that most people, as they walk along the streets or ride in the cars, have such an unpleasant expression? If one will observe even casually the people he meets in a day he will be impressed with the pained and sullen and disagreeable countenances. We live in a rush, and the average person is bent on some errand or business and is absorbed in that; we are all rushing to get something or somewhere. With this absorbing our attention we haven't time to attend to our facial expression. We are not sure, however, that this is a matter of permissible indifference. If one does not believe that his countenance is to or detracts anything from the lives or expressions of others let him pause for a moment before that now celebrated "Billiken." It is almost impossible to look at the little imp and not smile. The Japanese teach their maids in the hotels and those also in higher walks of life the art of smiling. They are compelled to practice before a mirror. One cannot stay long in Japan without being inoculated with the disposition to "look pleasant." The "look pleasant, please," of the photographer goes deeper than the photograph plate.

No one wants to associate long with an animated vinegar crier. A disposition is easily guessed from the angle of the corners of the mouth; a disposition is moulded by compelling those angles to turn up or down. If a merry heart maketh a glad countenance it is also true that a glad countenance maketh a merry heart—in the one who has it and in the one who beholds it. "Iron sharpeneth iron. So a man sharpeneth the countenance of his friend."

MT. IDA SCHOOL.
On the afternoon of Feb. 17 the students of Mount Ida School enjoyed a most interesting talk on some customs and persons of the 18th century by Mrs. Lucy Ingram Topliff of Brookline. Mrs. Topliff named her delightful little talk, "Thumb-nail Sketches of the Eighteenth Century," but the subject is of necessity only an imperfect suggestion of the dainty pictures that were drawn one after the other in not too rapid succession for the appreciative audience. It was a rare pleasure to have presented in such charming manner some of the lions of the period, as well as the slight vignettes of characteristic social events of the time.
Two weeks previous, on the evening of Feb. 3, the faculty and young ladies of the school had the privilege of listening to a most delightful paper from Mrs. Francis B. Hornbrooke of Newton. Mrs. Hornbrooke spoke on the friendship of Emerson and Carlyle. The subject was presented in an unusually charming manner which added to its own intrinsic interest was the personal touch, made possible by the speaker's long acquaintance with Mr. Emerson and his family. The pupils of Mount Ida enjoyed thoroughly all that Mrs. Hornbrooke brought to them out of a rich and varied experience.

SARAH HULL CHAPTER.

The Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., held an enjoyable meeting at the Newton Club, Newtonville, on Saturday, Feb. 12. After the business for the afternoon was concluded a fine program was given in charge of Miss Emma M. Sibley. It consisted of violin solos by Miss Cooper, vocal selections by Miss Emily Hayden and a most interesting paper was given by Miss Kingman of Boston upon "The White House and its Famous Men and Women." Much credit is due the hostesses, who were Mrs. Vincent M. Bowen, Mrs. Jacob H. Green, Mrs. Clarence S. Lautwiler, Mrs. Frank Haddon, Miss Rhana M. Sibley, Miss Emma E. Walker.
